

THREE SAVED BY MAN'S HEROISM

NEW 'BABY'
"Baby" of the new congress will be a stocky representative from Oklahoma, Lyle H. Boren, shown at his desk. Boren, who is only 27, will occupy the seat formerly held by the colorful Representative P. L. Gassaway. A Democrat, he will represent the Fourth Oklahoma district.

SETTLEMENT OF STRIKE DELAYED

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Settlement of the costly Pacific coast maritime strike is "mechanically impossible in less than three weeks," Mervyn Rathborne, secretary of the San Francisco bay district council of the Maritime Federation of Pacific, said today.

Three Employer Groups
"It must be remembered that the unions must actually deal with three employer groups—the deep-sea, steam schooner and Alaska operators," he said.

"As the situation now stands, there have been no meetings between employers and the L. L. A. (Longshoremen), the A. R. T. A. (radio telegraphers) and the Marine Engineers since the strike started. There has been one brief meeting with the masters, mates and pilots which ended in a deadlock. Negotiations with the marine cooks are at a standstill.

Will Submit Terms
"When and if tentative agreements are reached with the various unions, it will be necessary to submit the terms to the respective memberships for secret balloting. All these steps would take considerable time," Rathborne said.

Rathborne's statement was characterized by the joint policy committee of the various unions as a statement which "would tend to clarify the sitting agreements have been reached between negotiators for the deep-sea and Alaskan ship operators and two of the striking unions—the sailors and marine firemen.

Coastwise Referendum
Harry Lundberg, secretary of the Sailors' union, announced a coastwise referendum would be taken on acceptance of the agreement as soon as certain differences with steamer schooner operators can be worked out.

The firemen also planned a coastwise referendum.

All striking unions are members of the Maritime Federation of the Pacific coast and as such are pledged to a policy of not returning.

NATIONS VIE FOR NAVAL SUPREMACY

LONDON, Dec. 22.—(UP)—"Jane's Fighting Ships," the authoritative naval publication of the world, showed in its new yearly issue today that the volume of naval construction is greater than in any year since 1921—with the Washington naval limitation treaty ending December 31, when nations will be left free to race for supremacy.

It shows that great secrecy attaches to Japanese and Russian buildings; that Italy has supplanted France as the chief power in submarines, with 83 built or building; and that Great Britain is leading the way in general building, determined to be ready for another war; that France has a new destroyer flotilla, the "Terrible" class, which has attained 45.25 knots in trials, said to be a world record.

Postal Receipts Exceed All Time Record

OVER 84,000 LETTERS GO OUT IN DAY

All Gift Packages to Be Delivered Before Noon on Christmas Day

Postal receipts for the year to date have exceeded the all time record for the Santa Ana office, established in 1930, according to Postmaster Frank Harwood. Receipts yesterday brought the year's total up to slightly more than $172,000, Harwood said. The previous all time high, established in 1930, was $171,000 for the entire year.

Harwood also said that another all time record was shattered yesterday when 84,000 outgoing letters went through the cancelling machines. The previous record was established in 1931 when, in one day, 82,400 letters went through the machines.

With records being shattered the total receipts for stamp sales yesterday amounted to $2483.

Tonight is the last night that stamp and parcels post windows will remain open until 9 o'clock, Postmaster Harwood said.

With the Christmas mail delivery rush in full swing, Harwood guaranteed that all gift packages would be delivered before noon on Christmas day. He said that at present he is working a crew of 30 extra parcel post deliverymen and that all packages are being delivered each day, as fast as they arrive. Parcels arriving in the Christmas morning mails will be delivered before noon on the same day, he said.

To facilitate the work of handling incoming and outgoing mail, Harwood has cast aside the role of postmaster for a new role, that of parcels post clerk. For the past two or three days he has been working a regular shift at the parcels post window receiving and weighing packages and selling stamps.

SEEK RELEASE OF GEN. CHIANG

BULLETIN
NANKING, Wednesday, Dec. 23.—(UP)—It was announced officially today that 46 of 52 officers constituting Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's entourage were killed during the clash with Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang's rebels at Sian-Fu before the Nanking "strong man" was seized December 12.

SHANGHAI, Dec. 22.—(UP)—An official announcement at Nanking today said that Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, wife of the generalissimo, arrived at Sian-Fu, in Shensi province, by airplane this afternoon to plead for his immediate release by Young Marshal Chang Hsueh-liang.

Mme. Chiang, educated in the United States and alluring, left Nanking by special airplane this morning. She was accompanied by her brother, T. V. Soong, Harvard graduate, and W. H. Donald, Australian, a former adviser to the "young general" now in revolt.

She hoped to arrange the immediate freedom of the generalissimo, who has been held by Marshal Chang since a week ago last Saturday in an uprising that at first was based on a demand for war on Japan. She and her brother went in a purely personal capacity, however, and Nanking rejected any formal efforts at dealing with Chang, who is outlawed by the government.

THE REGISTER'S "POEMS OF PROFIT"

4 PRESIDENTIAL CANDIDATES ROASTED BY GRIDIRON CLUB IN GOOD NATURED SKETCHES

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(UP)—For the first, and doubtless the last time, the four presidential candidates had dinner together last night at the club's semi-annual banquet and then saw themselves lampooned in a series of good-natured sketches which lasted until after midnight.

President Roosevelt and Governor Landon spoke, but "no reporters were present." In accordance with long stand traditions of the club, which is composed of leading Washington correspondents, Hoover Minus Trousers.

The Gridiron club allowed almost no one of prominence to escape its searing. Herbert Hoover, for instance, walked onto the stage of the Willard Hotel's banquet hall, in full evening dress, but minus his trousers. To join a group of mourning Republicans, Rexford G. Tugwell, the brain trust who left Washington to become a molasses manufacturer, appeared at the Union League club in red underwear.

"Aren't you still a little red?" queried J. P. Morgan, of the membership committee. Tugwell insisted he still was wearing his old red club, which is composed of leading Washington correspondents.

ANTI-PICKETING REBEL PLANES BOMB CAPITAL

First steps toward adoption of a Santa Ana city ordinance uniform with the new county anti-picketing ordinance recommended by the county grand jury were taken by the city council last night, so that a draft of the new ordinance will be given first reading January 4.

Action was taken instructing City Attorney L. W. Blodgett to redraft the existing city ordinance on the subject, to make it conform with the new county ordinance.

Uniform Ordinance
A recommendation from Foreman Carl Mock and Secretary Ed Backs of the grand jury was before the council last night, requesting passage of the ordinance, so that all county territory will be covered by a uniform ordinance against strike disorders.

In presenting the motion for the ordinance, Councilman Joseph Smith included an instruction that the city clerk forward a copy of the present city ordinance to the grand jury, to show that Santa Ana "was a pioneer in such a move."

New Building Measure
Final action was taken last night to adopt the new building ordinance, which brings the old ordinance up to date by adoption of the 1935 building code. The ordinance, given first reading December 7, was adopted last night on Councilman Smith's motion.

Council also gave final passage to a new ordinance regulating trailer camps in the city on motion of Councilman William Penn.

BRITE BROTHERS SENTENCED TO DIE

YREKA, Cal., Dec. 22.—(UP)—John Brite, 36, and his brother, Coke Brite, 30, were sentenced to death today for a triple slaying at Horse Creek, Siskiyou county, August 30.

In decreasing hanging for the pair, Superior Judge C. J. Luttrell sentenced each brother separately on three convictions of first-degree murder.

They were convicted Saturday of slaying Martin Lange and Joseph Clark, deputy sheriffs, and Fred Seaborn, a navy pilot, when the officers attempted to arrest them on assault charges filed by Charles Baker, a Horse Creek rancher, and neighbor of the Brites.

Luttrell said that no date would be set for the executions until the cases are taken to the state supreme court on automatic appeal. Sheriff W. G. Chandler of Siskiyou county said the brothers would be taken to Folsom at once.

ARMY GROUP PREPARES TO RULE CUBANS

Gomez Impeached by House in All Night Session; Bitterness Shown

HAVANA, Dec. 22.—(UP)—President Miguel Mariano Gomez, impeached last night by the house of representatives, was formally notified by the senate today of charges of maladministration.

Given 24 Hours
President Gomez has been given 24 hours to prepare his defense and engage counsel. This will delay the presentation of testimony until noon Wednesday.

Under the procedure adopted by the senate in an all-night session, both the prosecution and defense will present testimony. Then the senate will go into secret session to reach a verdict. The decision as to whether President Gomez must quit or remain in office will be based on a simple majority rule when the senate vote is taken.

Ready to step into the job, groomed by several conferences during the last few days with Batista, the sergeant who seized power in 1933, was Vice President Federico Laredo Bru, 61-year-old army favorite.

Cabinet To Resign
The entire Gomez cabinet, with the exception of the secretary of national defense, Rafael Montalvo, it was reliably reported, has already written its resignations.

The impeachment ends Cuba's brief period of political peace, observers said, and will set up, behind the scenes, another army dictatorship headed by Batista.

The bitterness of participants in this crisis was shown in the senate last night when pistols were drawn during the arguments attendant upon repealing the sugar tax bill over Gomez's veto, the act that caused the house to impeach him later.

Senator Arturo Ilias the president officer, drew his pistol and announced he would shoot any senator exposing a weapon. Thereupon, all restored their pistols to their pockets and quiet was restored.

ATTEMPT MADE TO SHOOT MAN

Believed to be an echo of the ill feeling which was revealed several times during the citrus strike of several months ago, an attempt to kill Tony Luna, Corona camp, La Habra, picking foreman who continued to carry on his work during the strike, was made at his home last night, according to information given deputy sheriffs.

According to report to Deputies Steve Duhamel, A. W. Furterion and Don Dunbar, who investigated, an unidentified man, dressed in blue overalls and jumper, and wearing a mask over the lower part of his face, knocked at the door of the Luna home and invited Luna into the back yard to talk.

"All right!" cried the visitor in Mexican. "Stand where you are and don't move!" Luna, seeing a pistol flash, said he dived at the visitor's legs and threw him off balance. The man with the gun ran and escaped. Shells from a .32 caliber revolver were found by the officers as were tracks of a man who stood at the window of the Luna home, watching Luna from the outside before the asserted attack.

Desmond said he anticipated his action would give Jones most of the Democratic votes in the assembly, possibly assuring the former Epic leader of the speakership. Jones already had claimed 33 written pledges and 10 oral promises, giving him two more than the 41 votes needed to elect him.

CIVILIANS FLEE FROM DEATH

It is from such scenes that Madrid civilians flee. In this picture from the Spanish capital, the mother to whom the children cling desperately, turns a wary eye skyward as the drone of the planes strike terror into the fleeing throngs.

RESOLUTION ON SEEK PARDONS BONDS PASSED FOR UNION MEN

The county supervisors today passed a resolution calling for the engineering report of the proposed $13,000,000 federal flood control project, as a preliminary step to the calling of a bond election.

Attorney R. Z. McKinney, of special counsel for the board in the flood control proceedings, presented the form of the resolution to the board this morning.

The engineering report is required as a basis for the bond election call, and must specify the estimated cost of the items to be covered by the bonds, in this instance only the lands and right-of-ways for the flood control work. The federal government proposes to finance the cost of the dams and other works, the county's share expected to be a figure between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000.

The engineering report will be requested for submission to the supervisors on or before the next meeting date, December 29. Whether the bond election can be called at that time appeared doubtful today, when Supervisor N. E. West reported that Mayor Theo Wyman Jr., in charge of the Los Angeles headquarters of the Army engineers, had requested delay in the election call until his own report on the project is approved in Washington.

Wyman's report includes financing of the $600,000 Santa Fe railroad relocation. If this is not allowed by the government, the cost must be borne by the county. Thus the county will not know the exact amount of bonds required, until the army report is adopted.

INCREASE IN PAY ROLLS REVEALED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins announced today 1,100,000 more workers had jobs at the end of last month than in November, 1935. During the same time, she said, weekly pay rolls in manufacturing and non-manufacturing industries had increased $50,500,000.

RISKS DEATH TO PREVENT FIRE SPREAD

Severe Burns Suffered by Worker in Los Alamitos Oil Refinery

Risking his life when he plunged through a seething mass of flames at a Los Alamitos refinery last night to close a safety valve in a burning oil tank in order to provide a way of escape for three fellow workmen whose exit from a workingman's hut was cut off, Pat Joiner, 34, is at the Community hospital at Long Beach today.

Joiner is suffering from severe burns about his hands and face and over a large area of his body. The rescued men were H. B. Long, Wilbur Hopson and E. A. Rush.

Hope was extended at the hospital this morning for Joiner's recovery unless unforeseen complications set in. The fire started at 10:30 o'clock last night when a control valve on the vapor tower broke, causing an explosion which ignited 10 barrels of oil. Oil storage tanks nearby were endangered. A wooden tool shed also was burned. The refinery is adjacent to the Dr. Ross cat and dog food factory.

Joiner's heroism not only saved the lives of the three workmen but prevented the spread of the fire to the entire plant. Joe Scherman, head of the state fire department with headquarters at Orange, responded to an alarm turned in, taking one of the state trucks to the scene of the fire.

GREAT BRITAIN TO KEEP SHIPS

LONDON, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Great Britain today sent notes to the United States and Japanese embassies here, formally notifying them of her invocation of Article 21 in the London Naval Treaty—the "escapade clause"—allowing her to retain five average cruisers.

The Japanese embassy presented a note to the foreign office, agreeing to the British decision to retain her cruisers and thus avoid weakening her sea strength.

The United States previously had assented to the British action when it was first intimated last week.

The British note to the United States and Japan for the first time revealed that the five warships she intends to retain, instead of being used as now as cruisers, will be employed as anti-aircraft ships—which may regard as a significant innovation.

Child Killed In Bus-Truck Crash

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—A six-year-old girl was killed and four other children injured today in a crash between a truck and an automobile being used as a school bus for the fashionable Charming Cross kindergarten. The dead, Carol Steffner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Baxter M. Steffner.

The injured: Ray White, 4; Jack Wolfe, 5; Albert Hastings, 7; Billy Watson, 4.

Pope Pius Has Restful Night

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Pope Pius spent a comfortable night and his condition as a whole appeared satisfactory, a spokesman for the papal household said. The pope was looking forward to broadcasting a message to Roman Catholics of the world Christmas eve at 12:30 p. m. (8:30 a. m. P. S.T.) on a wave length of 19.34 metres.

Prof. Aminta Milani, his private physician, having reluctantly consented to the address, was trying today to persuade him to speak only briefly in order not to tire himself unduly.

DEPUTIES ARE HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT HERE

Several persons, including Deputy Sheriff Tom Murphy Jr., and Claude Potter, were injured in automobile accidents last night and this morning, records show.

Last night as James Gullledge, 1430 West Fifth, Santa Ana, was driving south on Santa Ana boulevard, with his parking lights on, according to the officers, he car glanced off the side of a car operated by William A. Dietler, 1015 Spurgeon, who had just stopped at a stop sign on Broadway. Glancing from the Dietler car, the Gullledge vehicle ran head-on into the county's radio car operated by Potter. Murphy suffered skinned shins for which he was treated at county hospital. Potter was bruised. Miss May Hibbert, 519 North Broadway, accompanying Gullledge was given first aid by Officer W. H. Heard for head bruises.

About 5 a. m. today, cars operated by Ernest Colston, 23, San Bernardino, and Frank Alvarado, 21, Laurel street, Santa Ana, on 101 highway three-fourth's mile south of Irvine station, collided with injuries to four. Katherine Colston, 45, out and bruised, was treated at Santa Ana Valley hospital. Alvarado suffered possible fracture of collar-bone, lacerations of hands and legs and pavement burns. Mike Ghos, 48, Route 4, Santa Ana, head bruises, and John Quintero, 25, Route 4, Santa Ana, sprained back; all were treated at county hospital.

settlement uniform in which he had been sewn up for the winter. He said he had decided not to roll up his sleeves and make America over, but merely to "Roll America."

"Your election is unanimous," shouted Morgan. "Welcome, brother, welcome."

In Sad Plight
The trouserless Hoover found his fellow Republicans in a sad plight. Most were clad in rags. Republican Chairman John Hamilton wore a barrel.

The club titled its opus "The Greater Ziegfeld" and dedicated it, not to the late Florenz Ziegfeld, "but to the greatest showman of them all, Franklin D. Roosevelt." In quick succession there came a scene showing Patrick Boland, the house while, trying to train 12 new Democratic congressmen, who hitchhiked into office on the New Deal landslide. Boland's job was difficult because one of his pupils couldn't read and another didn't "speak English."

Farley, Rockefeller Sing
James A. Farley and John D. Rockefeller Jr., sang a duet in perfect harmony, while a huge charcoal, drawn by Roman slaves, rolled around the banquet hall, with banners inscribed "F. D. R. Imp."

The scene shifted then to the down-and-out research laboratory, where physicians were conducting an autopsy on the body of the G. O. P. First, they removed the full dinner pail which had been sewed up in a previous operation. Then they found an appendix tied up in Knox. They discovered grass growing in the alimentary tract, and a Ham Fish bone in the larynx. They were about to bury the corpse, when it sat up, closed the incision by means of a convenient zipper, said it felt much better, and announced it would run again in 1940.

STORM DELAYS LINER

SOUTHAMPTON, Dec. 22.—The giant liner Queen Mary arrived 13 hours late today on its Christmas voyage from New York with between 20 and 30 persons nursing slight injuries from a severe storm. Two members of the crew died on the round-trip, both of heart attacks.

Wednesday by members Alliance Church at the church of the Christian and Missionary building, Main and Bishop streets. The many scenes to be portrayed, the Rev. C. D. Hicks, pastor of the church, said, will include the shepherd plains outside the walls of Bethlehem; a Bethlehem street in front of Rabbi Nathan's home; the recession to find Child Jesus; and the Nativity.

ing to work until their brother-union has effected settlements. Thomas G. Plant, chairman of the coast committee of shipowners, said no further negotiations had been arranged, indicating employers probably would await the outcome of the Sailors' union ballot before taking such action.

Agreement is Read
Terms of the tentative agreement were read to bay region members of the Sailors' union at a meeting at the labor temple yesterday.

Conflicting reports circulated as to whether the members actually had taken any vote on acceptance. Finally Lundberg emerged to announce:

"We did not take any formal vote, merely discussing the terms of the agreement. We decided to hold up the vote until after we confer with steam schooner operators again. When that is done we will vote on offshore, steam schooner and Alaska trade agreements in a three way referendum up and down the coast."

The Maritime Federation of the Pacific announced a mass meeting of members for 2 p. m. tomorrow in Dreamland auditorium here to consider the strike situation.

PEOPLE EATING MORE ORANGES THAN IN 1930

Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen of the U. S. are eating an average of 16 pounds more of oranges, grapefruit and lemons than they did prior to 1931.

This is one of many interesting facts gleaned from a formal report in offices of County Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, who received the information from the bureau of agricultural economics.

"The per capita consumption of most all fruits is greatly increasing," Wahlberg said in analyzing the latest report, which covers the period from 1931 to 1935, inclusive, and compares it with five-year period, 1921-25.

By far the largest increase took place in citrus fruits, which advanced from 32 pounds per capita for the 1921-25 period to an average of 48 pounds for 1931-35. These 48 pounds included 33 pounds of oranges, 10 pounds of grapefruit, and five pounds of lemons.

On the other hand, apples showed the greatest drop, declining from 66 to 59 pounds. Peaches remained unchanged at 20 pounds. Grapes declined from 34 to 32 pounds and pears increased slightly from about eight to nine pounds. Imports of bananas declined from 22 pounds to 20 pounds per capita.

DEATH NOTICES

A WORD OF COMFORT

The ancient story of those who endeavored to build a tower so high that they might come close to God is both inspiring and pathetic.

It is inspiring because it witnessed to their sense of kinship with Him. It is pathetic because of their ignorance that He so reaches out to them in love that He is always "closer to you than breathing, nearer than hands and feet."

As the sense of your need of God is enhanced by your grief, let your heart remind you of His love for you and of His abiding Presence. Through joy and sorrow He has been sustaining you and He will not desert in your hour of supreme need. No one can tell you to recognize His Presence, and to hear His voice, but if you listen, you will hear.

ZUFALLI—At a local hospital, Saturday, December 19, Mrs. Eula E. Zufall, 46½ Almsworth Apartments, Plaza Square, aged 61. Born in Armstrong County, Penna. Mrs. Zufall came to Orange a year ago from Ohio. Survivors include: two daughters, Miss Anna Zufall, of the home; Mrs. Frank Fowler, Sackett, Penna.; three sisters, Mrs. Roy Kulp, Oakmont, Penna.; Miss Elsie McKelyp, Pittsburgh, Penna.; Mrs. Blanche McDonald, Philadelphia, Penna.; two brothers, McKelyp, of Orange; Thomas McKelyp, of Northern California. Body will be shipped to Youngstown, Ohio, this evening, accompanied by Miss Anna Zufall of the home. Interment and funeral services will be in Youngstown, Ohio.

PETITION TO ZONE BROADWAY FOR APARTMENT HOUSES GETS APPROVAL OF CITY COUNCIL

A petition to zone North Broadway, between Seventeenth and Nineteenth streets, for apartment houses, was approved by the city planning commission last night, but was held up by the city council until January 4, to await an expected petition to include the area between Fifteenth and Seventeenth streets in such an ordinance.

Councilman William Penn suggested a commission was set for January 4, in connection with application from Seventeenth to Nineteenth would leave a gap of two blocks, between Fifteenth and Seventeenth, unzoned, all the rest of Broadway being already zoned as an apartment house district. A petition is shortly expected from property owners, to include those final two blocks, so the council agreed with Penn that it would be best to wait for it, rather than pass a separate ordinance for the two blocks in question.

Owners of all property between Seventeenth and Nineteenth, except property now used for two service stations, signed the petition to zone those two blocks for apartment houses. The petition originally had included office buildings with apartments, but the planning commission rejected office buildings.

Hearings Set

Paul Neon Sign company to hang a neon sign for Shane's men's store at 208 East Fourth street.

Appreciation

The council was pleasantly startled by a letter of appreciation for the Christmas street decorations, from T. Gray Johnson, of the Business Institute.

"Since we haven't had many letters like this, I move we give this one special attention, and instruct the mayor and city clerk to acknowledge it," moved Councilman Smith. This was done.

Appreciation for Santa Ana's support of the League of Municipalities program also was received in a letter from the executive secretary, which Mayor Fred Rowland was instructed to acknowledge. The letter promised attention of the league to the 1937 legislative session, on behalf of measures of special interest to cities.

A letter from the Fish and Game Development association urged the council to endorse a proposed bill to protect southern coast fishing, by restricting commercial sardine fishing. "Send us a copy of the bill first, so we can see what we are endorsing," the council responded.

Allocation from the county gas tax fund of $1592 for street work on Lowell, Halladay and Adams streets, Santa Ana, was reported to the council last night, allocation having been made by the county supervisors last Tuesday.

FORUM TO DEBATE QUESTION OF MARRIED WOMEN HOLDING JOBS WHILE HUSBANDS WORK

The question of whether or not married women whose husbands work should hold jobs in the business or professional world involves issues greater than the question of the individual rights of women to work, according to W. H. (Ted) Blanding, chairman of the arrangements committee of the Forum for Political and Economic Education, who announced the pros and cons of the question will be debated tonight at the junior college building, 917 North Main street.

The subject will be, "Resolved, that Married Women Holding Jobs is Detrimental to Society." Both speakers, F. C. McCandless, past president of the Toastmasters club and now deputy governor of Toastmasters Internationale, affirmative, and Ernest Wooster, deputy county auditor, negative, are well informed and should present their arguments, interestingly, Blanding said.

The question is particularly vital because of the differences in economic beliefs of the people," Blanding stated. Some contend there is a scarcity of work and therefore, women holding jobs, take those jobs from men who need them. Others say there is no scarcity of work and therefore, women who hold jobs are helping raise the standard of living. These differences in economic belief are the crux of the whole debate. The issue has been brought up officially and unofficially often, for discussion, proof that an answer to it has important bearing upon our economic life. A good crowd should be out to hear the debaters and to take part in the general discussion."

MAN INJURED IN FALL FROM SCAFFOLDING

Clarence Eldridge, 40, of 1187 Coast Boulevard, South Laguna Beach, was seriously injured yesterday in the fall of a scaffolding on which he was working. Eldridge, proprietor of the Boulevard Sheet Metal works, was at work on a cornice being installed on a new building under construction on Coast street in the beach city, when the platform collapsed, hurling him twenty feet to the ground. In falling, Eldridge struck a plank, and, on being rushed to the office of Dr. V. P. Carroll for emergency treatment, it was discovered that the injured man had sustained a spinal fracture.

Removed by ambulance to Long Beach hospital, Eldridge's condition last night was reported as serious, with even chances of recovery.

Culminating the decorated living Christmas tree contest sponsored by the Edison Women's committee, judges will make an inspection of trees tonight. They will award first and second prizes for the "most beautiful and original trees" in two classifications: those under 12 feet in height and those larger than 12 feet.

A radio traveler clock, a silox coffee maker, an electric grill and an electric clock, which have been on display in the windows of the Edison company since the contest opened, will be presented as first and second prizes. Mrs. Adams will take the awards to owners of the winning trees.

Amateur Radio Brings Father Son Together

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—A miracle that came out of the skies via an amateur radio receiving set today reunited a father and son who had been separated 20 years.

In 1916, Roy K. Johnson—known on the stage as Valdemar the Great, illusionist and magician—started on a world tour. He left behind him his infant son, whom he entrusted to the care of the child's grandparents.

During his years of traveling he lost track of both his son and the grandparents. Since that time he has peered across the audiences that packed theaters to watch his tricks of magic, hoping that some day he might find his lost boy. He spent his off-stage hours tramping streets looking for a youth who resembled himself. At night in his San Francisco home he spent his time in amateur radio operations, hoping they might provide a clue.

Sunday night from his station W6BBQ he talked with an amateur operator in Honolulu. During the conversation the name of Valdemar the Great was mentioned.

Somewhere on the east coast another man was listening in. He heard the words "Valdemar the Great."

"That was my father's name," he shouted to his companions.

He tried to raise W6BBQ but Johnson had gone to bed. He succeeded in contacting station W6DO and the operator called Johnson's home. Johnson rushed to his own set and conversed with the eastern amateur, his son.

"I was so excited I forgot to ask where he was. But he's writing to me and soon we shall be reunited."

Johnson said the only clue he had concerning the whereabouts of his son—Kenton Johnson—was the call letters of the eastern sending set, WENKE.

"I could tell he was a fine operator," Johnson said, "but he is broke. He was shaking on the key, however, when he realized how we finally had been brought together after all these years. His last message before we

WALNUT TREES ARE FREE FROM HUSK, REVEALED

So far as edible nut growers and farm experts of Orange county know, the Santa Ana area is free from the walnut husk fly in spite of the fact that it recently has been found in Pomona, Elsinore, San Jacinto and other areas outside of the Chino district, to which it had been limited since its inception.

This was the announcement today from County Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg, who said plans were well under way to improve control methods for Orange county and to gain the help of the state department of agriculture. The latter will be urged to enforce closer quarantine measures to protect areas now free from the husk fly.

Wahlberg pointed out that the edible nut department of the California Farm Bureau Federation, was just recently organized, but has already taken steps to improve conditions.

Among other things, requests soon will be sent to the University of California asking for a bulletin covering recommendations and specifications on the use of ethylene gas and dehydration, and urging continued research in walnut irrigation, fertilization, husk fly control, little leaf control and walnut blight control.

J. A. Smiley, of West Orange, recently was elected chairman of the State Nut Growers department of the farm bureau. A. D. Smiley, of Garden Grove, a director in the Orange county department; Wahlberg and D. S. Halladay, of Santa Ana, attended the election of officers of the California Walnut Growers association in Los Angeles last Friday.

The annual Southern California walnut growers institute will be held in Ventura, Feb. 19. The an-

LOCAL ATTORNEY FAVORS IDEA TO ESTABLISH NEW TYPE OF COURT TO HEAR AVERAGE MAN

By NEIL SHAW

Do you have a particular grievance against any particular decision or act that has come from an administrative department of the government, whether it be national, state, county, or city?

Do you wonder in your own mind whether or not some antique or recent piece of legislation that hurts you or your business, is actually constitutional?

If your answer to either question is "yes," then under the present system of jurisprudence, and without some addition to that system, your only recourse is to spend the money in a cause of action, or a specified case, in order to determine if your grievance is well-founded, or to settle your doubt about an act or law being constitutional.

To alleviate this situation, there has been suggested a means of circumventing all the red tape.

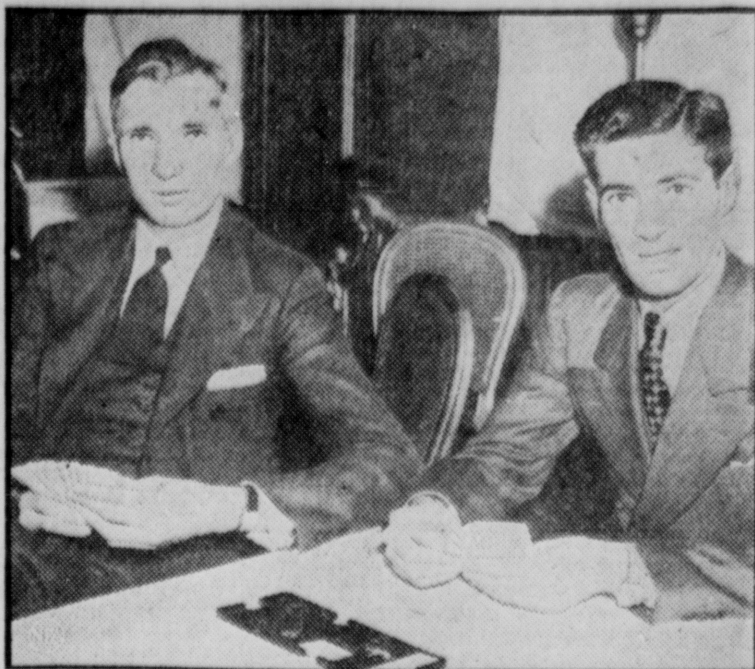

And it would be an adequate vehicle on which to remove lost motion in courts, and save hundreds of thousands of dollars that annually in the U. S. are poured from the pockets of Mr. and Mrs. Average Citizen.

Meyer Cites Article

The method is simple, according to N. D. Meyer, well-known Santa Ana criminal lawyer, who today pointed to an interesting article in the American Bar Association Journal, official publication of the organization.

The article, Meyer explained in a brief interview, was written by Col. O. R. McGuire, chairman of the association's committee on ad-

Champions of Parlor Contract

Amateur contract bridge, the kind of game that's played in thousands of American homes on Saturday nights, got a firm foothold among the experts, when Dr. J. C. McClelland, left, of Akron, O., and M. Neiman, of Los Angeles, won the national amateur pair championship of the American Bridge League in Chicago. Only those not yet "qualified masters," meaning those who still can play a quiet family game, could participate. It was the first event of its kind conducted in connection with the American Bridge League's tenth annual tournament.

ministrative law, and who lives in Minneapolis.

McGuire has suggested a federal administrative court to give aggrieved citizens the opportunity to test decisions of administrative departments of the government, Meyer said.

McGuire recommended that the court should be a legislative court much the same as the Custom courts and the court of appeals and would hear appeals from administrative decisions on both the law and the facts.

Sees Practicability

"As much as I hate to see any addition to present expense of any branch of government," Meyer declared, "I believe that such a court would result in savings in mental anguish as well as dollars and cents, that would far more than offset the cost of maintenance."

"It is within the experience of every attorney that he has personal knowledge that hundreds of suits have been filed under certain laws over a period of two or three years, and then those laws were found to have been unconstitutional, with a consequent tremendous loss of time and money to clients and lawyers."

"I really believe the suggestion for the establishment of such a new court to be entirely practical and sound, at least from this viewpoint."

Check Not Possible

Meyer said he was intensely interested in, and agreed with the following statement that was made by McGuire:

"It is humanly impossible for a chief executive, the Congress or any other group of men to follow through various administrative acts to see whether government employees are faithfully executing the laws, or whether through incompetence, laziness, mental bias, or even crookedness they are failing in doing so at the expense of the citizen and the government."

"The only salvation is a tribunal independent of administrative officers in which their decisions can be tested."

Meyer pointed out here that if such a court were established, the ordinary layman or attorney would not have to wait two or three years for some actual case with which to test the constitutionality of the law, but could go into this court immediately and have his question decided for all time.

Citizen Must Guess
Closely allied with this situation, Meyer said, is the complete inability of the citizen to obtain any authoritative decision as to the rule to be followed in the administration of particular statutes or laws as they apply to certain sets of facts.

With no machinery to obtain an authoritative interpretation in advance, a citizen must take a chance that he is following the correct procedure and then suffer a penalty if he guesses wrong, he added.

Coinciding with Meyer's opinion, were further statements of McGuire in his article.

To Build Confidence
"Common sense dictates," it said, "that an administrative tribunal provide rulings in the nature of declaratory judgments in such cases so citizens can plot courses of procedure with confidence."

"Years as we may for the return of the old order of simple dispensations in government, that day will never come into our generation. Deplore as we may the extent to which bureaucratic government has grown, the manner in which it is entrenched and the fact that it has been constantly growing through the years, the realities must be faced."

"And that at once, to take some of the load from the administrative branch of the government and thus restore a better degree of equilibrium in governmental power."

CYPRESS
Mrs. Elizabeth McCarthy and Mrs. Margaret Connelly who have returned to their home in Chicago following a visit with relatives here. Previous to their departure, the two visitors were honored with luncheons at the home of Mrs. Mabel Pollock and Mrs. Martha Hanneman. Guests at the first affair were Mrs. Gladys Nordstrom, Mrs. Leona Jones, Mrs. Mary Lee Sawtelle and Mrs. Mabel Lukens. Mrs. Hanneman had as her guests Mrs. Leona Jones and Mrs. Jean Remick of Los Alamitos.

Mrs. Jones' daughter accompanied the two women home. The party left Saturday. Mrs. Mary Lee Sawtelle and Mrs. Mabel Lukens entertained for the visitors at an earlier event with Mrs. Mabel Pollock, Mrs. Leona Jones, Mrs. Geraldine Kahl, Mrs. Gladys Nordstrom, Mrs. Katherine Parry, Mrs. Marie Eckert, Mrs. Martha Hanneman, Stanton; Mrs. Jean Remick of Los Alamitos, and Mrs. Leona Hull and Miss Bonita Hull of Anaheim as their guests.

LAGUNA BEACH POST OFFICE SETS RECORD

The largest day's business in the history of Laguna Beach Post-office since its establishment was reported yesterday, with signs of reaching even larger proportions today and tomorrow. By 6 o'clock last night, over 11,000 pieces of outgoing mail had been tallied, with two hours' work still confronting the staff. Incoming mail was also reported as record-breaking, with no actual figures possible.

Extra help and overtime for the regular staff, was utilized, and the vast mass of Christmas mail was cleaned up, both as to outgoing and received mail, before the office was closed.

In view of the growth of Laguna Beach during the past two years, and the enormous increase in postal business and revenue, it is expected that a new postoffice building will be authorized in next year's federal appropriations bill for new construction.

At the age of one year, the average vocabulary is seven words.

SEEKS PERMIT TO ESTABLISH NIGHT PATROL

Introduction of a new city ordinance to regulate merchant patrol service in Santa Ana, was accompanied at last night's council meeting by an application from D. H. Betten for permit to establish a patrol service; also a petition from 34 merchants and property owners" asking reinstatement of F. W. Lockhart, patrolman recently discharged after a physical encounter with another patrolman, Bert Dawson.

The proposed new ordinance, as explained by City Attorney L. W. Blodgett, would divide the city into districts, with separate patrols for each district. The ordinance would require insurance of proper performance, together with posting of bond. However, where bond is required to be posted with the state board of prison directors, no city bond would be required.

Councilman Joseph Smith's motion that the ordinance be passed to a second reading was adopted. D. H. Betten, who has operated a private detective agency in Santa Ana for a number of years, applied for permit to establish a patrol service covering the business, industrial and residential districts. As references, he mentioned District Attorney W. F. Menton, Sheriff Logan Jackson and Chief of Police F. W. Howard of Santa Ana. On motion of application was placed on file.

The petition that Lockhart be reinstated was tabled until January 4. Both Lockhart and Dawson were discharged after their fist fight display.

KEN Murray SAYS:

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Hear Ye! Hear Ye! The Appellate Division of the New York Courts, backed by various bar associations, has banned judges and lawyers from appearing in radio "courts" broadcasts. . . . That's what you call objecting to sound advice through a sound device.

You know, it's hard to figure how a court could bar education in legal matters to the public, and still continue to pull that old gag about "ignorance of the law is no excuse."

In fact, I don't really see how these radio courts can hurt judges and lawyers. . . . It might even help them to get back some of the respect they lost during the Capone era.

However, I guess the bar associations figure if the public finds out that legal decisions can be reached so easily, they might start to wonder how come all those big fees.

PARLEY HELD BY LA HABRA FARM CENTER

"Carving the Christmas Turkey" was the theme of the La Habra Farm Center meeting Monday when 40 gathered at the Lincoln school auditorium for the regular meeting. Miss Frances Liles, home demonstration agent, for Orange county was in charge of the feature part of the program and first introduced Frank Pierce, song leader for the farm bureau of the state, who led the group in community singing assisted by several members of the Orange county farm bureau chorus, who were a part of the chorus of 400 voices which farm bureau executive, reported on the convention, explaining some of the resolutions passed at the convention. W. M. Cory, assistant farm adviser, announced another tour to the citrus experiment station at Riverside for January 22. Mrs. T. W. Clark, president of the Orange county farm home department, reported on the women's part at the convention. Miss Liles, assisted by Mrs. A. F. Schroeder of West Orange, then carved a roasted turkey. Miss Liles first explaining the method of preparing the bird for the oven. After the carving demonstration W. M. Cory told about the selection of a good turkey at the markets or other places where turkeys are for sale.

The meeting closed with the singing of Christmas carols of all nations, by Frank Pierce, with Eleanor Robinson at the piano. The group then adjourned to the school dining room where turkey sandwiches and coffee were served.

DAIRYMAN OUTFITS HERD WITH TUNED SWISS BELLS AND SAYS TINKLE MAKES COWS HAPPIER

CANTON, O., (UP)—John Stotter's dairy farm near here has become the mecca of northeastern Ohio Swiss who are attracted by the melodious tinkling emanating from a group of bovine primas donned with specially tuned Swiss bells.

Stotter imported the bells from Switzerland, where he lived as a youth, and where it is the custom for cows to be outfitted with resonant bells made by experts.

The bells are not the common brassy bells which American farmers buy for the practical purpose of helping them find their cows when they wander into the woods. They are cast from a silver alloy by expert bell makers who look upon them as musical instruments and exercise great care to acquire proper tone and resonance.

Prize ensemble of the bovine orchestra is a group of 13 cows equipped with a matched set of bells which were imported from Switzerland. These bells are perfectly harmonious and all the others hanging from the necks of his herd of 40 Holstein cows had been selected to accord with them. They range in size from tiny little bells weighing 10 pounds each.

Stotter said the Swiss use bells principally because they make a pleasant sound although there are many cattlemen who think the sound of the bells have a quieting and comforting influence on 'bossy.' "I suppose that a cow which never had worn a bell would get along just as well without it but it is a fact that when a cow has once worn a bell she seems nervous without it," Stotter said. "Once I lost the clapper out of one of my big bells and until I had it fixed I had to furnish another bell for the cow. She seemed unhappy without it."

The dairy farmer does not argue that music increases milk production but his herd averaged 10,000 pounds of milk for each cow and he receives recognition from the Holstein Breeders' Association.

On the farm of Theodore Wirtanen, near here, 1500 white Leghorns are wearing tin spectacles. Shaped like ordinary eyeglasses, the lens are of opaque metal.

The spectacles prevent the fowls from seeing straight ahead and are designed to reduce their fighting ability as well as to protect their eyes in barnyard battles.

The speedometer is more than 100 years old. It was devised by Isiah Lukens, of Philadelphia.

CONNEAUT, O.—(UP)—Blinkers for chickens is the latest fad. On the farm of Theodore Wirtanen, near here, 1500 white Leghorns are wearing tin spectacles. Shaped like ordinary eyeglasses, the lens are of opaque metal.

The spectacles prevent the fowls from seeing straight ahead and are designed to reduce their fighting ability as well as to protect their eyes in barnyard battles.

Mac Quarry Shows Them How It's Done While The Nation Listens

Los Angeles. The break that came Sunday afternoon was a natural for both parties—MacQuarry and the sponsor.

The pay-check writers can congratulate themselves on finding a ready-made hour with which to substitute; MacQuarry will never again find things rolling along so gloriously out of his control.

The broadcast Sunday was a hurried affair. The tip-off was the fact that two sketches used previously on KFWB were repeated. Naturally, under such circumstances, it's hard for us to judge the show's national appeal.

But I still believe it will build into one of those "traves" that sweep across country like a prairie fire only to trail off into a whisp of smoke. Another "Knock, Knock."

I was in the studio Sunday afternoon when the gang moved in. That was at 4:30 o'clock, leaving only a half-hour to airtime. So fire ahead with your questions.

No, the actors are not rehearsed. They don't even see the script until they're cast for the part while the show's on the air. And the audience really does the casting. No stage bit, that.

The prompting, direction and remarks MacQuarry makes are all ad lib. Save for the commercials and the scripts of the skits that are to be given the players, nothing else is written out. Which means he's plenty fast on his feet.

MacQuarry's a younger man than I had imagined. I'd say about 40. There are few gray hairs, several extra pounds, and a slight bald spot that'll grow rapidly from now on.

Yes, he is married. There are two children—Ronald Haven, 4, and Patricia Lou, 4 months.

Incidentally, Haven was in downtown Los Angeles Friday morning Christmas shopping when New York began its frantic search for him. He happened to call the words "Stop" and "Go" are plainly indicated is advocated by Dr. R. S. Minor, head of the optometry division of the University of California.

"Too much emphasis is being placed on light alone," declared Dr. Minor. "What is really needed is a distinctive and easily readable signal placed directly in the motorist's line of vision."

Dr. Minor declared that color blindness is not an important factor in causing accidents, as color-blind persons usually make provision for that limitation. Of far greater importance is the inability, he declares, of many motorists to detect form and motion at the side of the road while keeping the eyes straight ahead.

Tests known as the "form and motion field" are available for detecting restricted "barrel" vision as it is known and these have been used successfully in placing football players in positions where they could be most effectively and equally useful.

Dr. Minor insists the same tests should be used in showing motorists their visual deficiencies.

YULE IN HAWAII 160 YEARS OLD

HONOLULU, (UP)—Honolulu is preparing to celebrate Christmas for the 160th time in its history. The Yuletide celebration first was observed in 1786 when the English ships "Queen Charlotte" and "King George" were anchored off the village of Waimea, on the island of Kauai, 100 miles northeast of here.

On Christmas evening, the captain ordered hymns sung and prayers offered. Gifts were taken ashore and presented to the native boys and girls.

However, it was not until nearly three quarters of a century later that Christmas was recognized officially by the Hawaiian government. In 1849, King Kamehameha III, who had been converted to Christianity by the American missionaries, issued a special proclamation recognizing Christmas. However, he confused his dates and set the observance for Dec. 21 but the following year he corrected the error.

Since then Christmas has become a popular festival in the islands and is celebrated American fashion. Christmas trees are received by the ahipload from the Pacific northwest. To them are added holly, mistletoe, tinsel, nuts and candy canes, while carol and church singing are added to the services.

Like other American municipalities, Honolulu has its community tree a mammoth affair set before the executive building of the territory. Under the broad porches of this historic building, a beautiful and inspiring pageant of the Nativity is presented on Christmas eve.

Santa Claus visits island children also, but owing to the lack of any chimneys in the sub-tropical climate he encounters handicaps. These may be anything from a surfboard or outrigger to an airplane. But never by reindeer, the weather is too warm.

ARMY WORM SUBDUED

HONOLULU (UP)—Entomologists of the Hawaiian sugar industry's agricultural experiment station have perfected a new poison powder to assist in the eradication of the army worm, which is a destructive pest in quite a few sections of the United States.

Youth Buried In 12 Tons Of Coal Is Unhurt

MONTROSE, Colo. (UP)—William Wolford, 16, of Ridgway, Colo., cheated death when he was trapped under an overturned truck. He was buried under 12 tons of coal for 30 minutes and suffered no ill effects.

Forest Rasmussen was driving the truck loaded with almost 12 tons of coal when young Wolford opened the door of the cab and got part way out on the running board to see whether some articles on the running board were safe.

The coal in the truck was of the lump variety. If the coal had been slack, Wolford would have been smothered to death before his companion could rescue him.

GAS COOKS BETTER AND COSTS LESS

Nearly 100% of the home makers in this region cook with natural gas! They know that gas is more dependable. They know that it's faster—loses no time warming up—is through the minute they turn it off.

In the new gas ranges, it furnishes any required degree of heat, from low for oven canning to top heat for broiling.

People hereabouts pay one-third as much for natural gas as other, less serviceable cooking fuel would cost them.

If you haven't seen the latest gas ranges, you owe it to yourself to visit your dealer or the gas company, soon. Ask about the latest improvements.

FAIL TO LOCATE MISSING AIRPLANE

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Weary searchers resumed their week-long hunt for a missing Western Air Express liner today with success seemingly as far removed as when the search started a few hours after the big transport disappeared in the central Utah wilderness last Tuesday.

Focal point of the hunt, concentrated during the first few days in the vicinity of Provo, Utah, shifted southward to Milford. Airlines officials said 17 planes were in the air today, searching the southern area while approximately 300 men tramped over the mountains about the planes operated from a base established at Milford.

Allan Barrie, WAE vice president, who has directed operations until today, returned to his office in Los Angeles and L. H. Duerikotte, the company's secretary-treasurer, stepped into Barrie's job.

FULLERTON ACADEMY IN REVIEW

ANAHEIM, Dec. 22.—Stepping through its military maneuvers with snap and precision before a crowd of nearly 1000 persons, Company "D" was declared victor in the company competitive drills Sunday as St. Catherine's Military school staged its first public drill and parade of the winter term.

Each of the four companies staged individual maneuvers. The entire cadet corps went through Butts Manual of Arms, the corps and quarters were inspected by U. S. army officers and the program was concluded with a formal parade review.

Major B. B. Blair was the reviewing officer. Other military men present on the reviewing stand included Maj. Ray E. Smith of Anaheim and Lts. V. I. Coppard and D. McKellar. Police Chief J. S. Biddin in full uniform, and a large delegation of members of Anaheim's American Legion post, headed by Commander Clair Liebhart, also occupied seats on the reviewing stand.

Lt. Charles A. Schmidt, commandant of the corps, was complimented by the military men and the public for the splendid showing of the corps, and the excellent condition of grounds and quarters. Paul Grover, athletic director, awarded letters to members of the football squad.

Two year men who were honored included Joe Campbell, John McCafferty, Jack Mueller and Ernest Simon.

Police News

W. R. Cubbon, Carl Juhlin and Joe Estrada paid $2 each yesterday in city court, after pleading guilty to boulevard-stop jumping. Harold Wildman paid $1 for parking his car overtime. Frank Townsley, charged with vagrancy after he was accused of using liquor to excess, was given a 60-day suspended jail term and ordered to stop drinking for one year.

Wanted by Sheriff Stanley Rogers of Oklahoma City, on a warrant charging embezzlement, Weller R. Crandall, 46, 316 West Second, was arrested by Officers Harry Fink and Charles Wolford yesterday afternoon.

Waiving extradition to Oklahoma, Crandall declared he has done nothing wrong and is willing to return to Oklahoma City to try to straighten out the difficulty. The warrant, officers said, was signed by members of the firm with whom he works. Crandall, declaring he is a partner in the firm, said he just completed a sale of battery equipment by which his firm "stands to make $150,000."

Deputy Sheriffs Steve Duhart and A. W. Fullerton searched along 101 highway in vain early this morning, seeking a man reported to be lying along the highway, face down, north of the El Sombbrero cafe. But a half hour later, four musicians from the cafe brought the man, Jim Morelock, 603 East Broadway, Anaheim, to the sheriff's office where Morelock explained his car had run out of gasoline and as he was returning with the fuel, walking along the highway, two men set upon him and knocked him unconscious.

The alleged attackers did not rob him, Morelock said. Morelock had not been drinking, the officers reported.

Deputy Sheriffs Herman Zabel and James Musick were in Long Beach today, questioning Orange's "meanest" man, who assertedly confessed to Long Beach police, that he recently entered the Vernon Valentine and Henry Lucha homes in Orange recently to steal. The man, whose name was not learned by the deputies, here, broke open the baby's bank at the Valentine place, stole $3 or $4 and then drank the baby's especially prepared milk, found in the refrigerator. At the Lucha place the "meanest" man assertedly obtained only a gold watch. He is in Long Beach jail and will be prosecuted in Long Beach for alleged burglaries committed there.

At request of Orange police, Santa Ana police today were seeking Vivian Zimmerman, 14, who disappeared from the home of a local friend Saturday night and has not been heard from since.

Vivian, described as five feet three inches tall, weighing 95 pounds; she has blonde hair, blue eyes, and, when she disappeared, wore white middle blouse, dark plaid skirt and blue tweed coat.

M. Lay, 610 West Second, reported to city police yesterday that a burglar who attempted to enter his home by pushing up a bedroom window the night before, fled when Lay's nephew called to him, asking him what he was doing at the window.

The car B. H. Larver, 911 West Fourth, reported abandoned behind a billboard near his place, belonged to Homer McKittrick, 804 West Fourth, police learned upon investigation. McKittrick said he had permission to park the car behind the billboard.

Found by Officers Chet Gross and L. C. Rogers, walking along West Fourth, near Sycamore, and weeping, at 12:30 a. m. today, Jaen Farnham, 11, 210 North Parton, was escorted to the home of his worried mother. Jack had been selling morning papers at a dance on 101 highway, he said, and had hitch-hiked to Santa Ana.

Sanitary Inspector E. E. Frisby said yesterday, he would take care of the complaint entered with police by G. A. Williston, Long Beach, who said "squatters," operating a junk yard adjacent to his duplex at Sycamore and Anaheim, were creating an unsanitary condition there.

Some woman got the wrong brown coat while visiting a downtown beauty parlor yesterday. Mrs. Mabel Bohannan, 719 West Second, told city police. Mrs. Bohannan's double-breasted, brown cloth coat, was taken and a similar coat left in its stead. Mrs. Bohannan is looking for the second woman to make an exchange of the garments.

John J. Lyons, 51, transient from San Diego, knows now that he made one of those original slapstick comedy errors yesterday.

Lyons, assertedly "mooching" dimes from Santa Ana citizens, met a plain clothesman, Captain Allen of the Los Angeles police force, who was in Santa Ana in connection with a court case. "Gotta dime, mister?" Lyons asked Allen. "Yes," was the captain's answer, "but come along with me." Lyons went to jail. Later, he was given a 10-day suspended jail term by City Judge J. G. Mitchell and ordered to leave the city at once. "Gosh! I sure picked on the wrong man that time!" Lyons opined.

William O. Curry, 56, 217 South Daisy, Santa Ana, was jailed on a vagrancy charge last night, out-come, officers said, of Curry's persistent and consistent drinking.

DOTS AND DASHES AND ONE OR TWO FLASHES

"Tex" Oliver, the football coach with a Phi Beta Kappa key, is in town for a few days. Mrs. Oliver is with him. They are visiting old friends and playing a bit of golf.

The fellow who "went up" to the University of Arizona from Santa Ana high school has lost considerable weight, but that is always expected. An insufferable "worrier," Oliver sleeps little during football season, is customarily run down by December. . . . Currently he's at 137, his lowest poundage since he was 38. . . . Normally he weighs around 155.

Oliver just completed his fourth year at Arizona. Although the Wildcats stepped up in competition—playing Michigan State, Kansas, Utah—as well as Centenary, Texas Tech and other schools, Oliver's record of never having lost a game by more than seven points. . . .

Arizona football is still on the upgrade under the Santa Ana. Next year the "Cat card" will include some big names. "Tex" admits he'd like to have had the opening date (Sept. 25) on Southern California's schedule, but admires S. C. for giving the spot to A. A. Stag's College of Pacific squad. Like all football men, Oliver has an abiding respect for Mr. Stag, believes the game owes him more than it can pay. . . . Kansas plays at Tucson in '37. Oklahoma A. and M. is definitely signed too. There is gossip Arizona will tackle Loyola, Oregon, Santa Clara, San Francisco U., perhaps one of the major Texas colleges. Oliver admits certain contacts have been made; but says there is nothing really to go on yet. . . . However, you get the idea. When Oliver started at Tucson, the Wildcats were playing Temple, San Diego State, New Mexico Aggies. Every year the caliber of competition has improved. . . .

Clair Preininger, Wally Smith and Sammy Tucker, former Santa Anas, had good years. Oliver used 'em all in the backfield. Preininger was a standout, started most of the games. . . . The three ex-Dons graduated in June along with many another Arizona stalwart. Casualties are heavy, but Oliver retains his No. 1 ball-carrier, Bronko Smilinich, whom Oliver terms "one of the hardest-running backs I've ever seen." . . . Smilinich played freshman football at Minnesota. . . . Oliver said Smilinich ran over seven men on a 30-yard touchdown against Texas Tech. . . .

In view of the hubbub over Santa Ana high school's proposed shift from the Coast league to the Citrus Belt or some other smaller wheel next year, and as a seven-year man with the Saints, Oliver's opinion is worth something. He said he didn't mind being quoted out of his class in the Coast league," said Oliver. "There never was a time, 1921 excepted, when Santa Ana's manpower compared with San Diego's or Long Beach's."

And now for a few general dots and dashes. . . . Ferris Wall, the husky Saint lineman, was picked at tackle on Long Beach Poly's all-opponents' team. No hollow honor when it remembered Long Beach won the Southern Cal. championship. Wall had a field day against Long Beach, spent most of the time in Poly's backfield. . . .

Tall Bill Hawkins is home from Stanford for the holidays. He passed up football this season to work, and level on the high hurdles. He was running 15.5 after 3 weeks of practice. . . . The Dons have invited Joe E. Brown to their football banquet in January. Brown's a good Joe at that, probably will come down for the occasion. The chamber of commerce offered to set any date that will meet with the big-mouthed comedian's approval. . . .

Woodrow Wilson's track at Long Beach has been offered the Coast league for the annual all-conference meet. Wilson already has sewed up the Southern Cal. and State prep meets. . . . Fellow wrestlers call "Man Mountain" Dean the "man's No. 1 nickel-nurse." . . . Santa Ana's all-arounder of Pitt-Washington tickets is coming through the mails now. The first batch was delivered yesterday. . . . Washington officials sent 10 to Coach Bill Cook for distribution among the Dons, the gridmen in return to serve as ushers at the Rose Bowl. Coach Cook decided the lucky lady by lot. . . .

Orange his crack little quarter-back of the past season, Max Fletcher, dropped out of school the other day, returned to his old home in Kansas. It is doubtful if he'll return next season. Coach Stew White was going to fashion his offense around Fletcher. . . . It will cost Stanford approximately $600 to haul Santa Ana's Dons north next fall. . . . It's a little girl at the Leo Gasparis, Leo being the former Saint pitcher and cager. That makes Harry, the old Cincy pitcher, a grandpa for the first time. . . . And it was a girl also at the Clyde Cook's. . . . Remember when this department said that most athletes had girls?

STEELE-JONES BOUT 'ON' AS SCHEDULED

CHICAGO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Middleweight Champion Freddie Steele opened vigorous training to-day for his 16-round title bout with ex-champion "Gorilla" Jones in defense of the National Boxing association.

The fighter from Tacoma will receive $20,000 for battling Jones at Milwaukee Jan. 1. With the support of the Wisconsin boxing commission, Steele planned to go through with the fight despite the fact the N. B. A. warned that the "Gorilla" still was under suspension.

"The contracts were signed and delivered long before the association stepped in," said the champion's manager, Dave Miller. "We couldn't back down now even if we wanted to."

Jones was suspended by the Ohio commission in 1933 after his Cleveland fight with Ben Jey, then middleweight champion. Since then he has fought several times in Milwaukee without protest from the N. B. A.

CHIEF FORGETS VOW BUT PINS HERB FREEMAN

BY PAUL VISSMAN

If Chief Little Wolf had only kept a promise made Herb Freeman last night at Sam Sampson's Highway Crime club this would be a much, much merrier Christmas.

In one of the more heated moments of their wrestling match, listed as the main event, the Indian Brave told the Jewish Gripler: "You paleface, I kill you."

Ringsiders, who wouldn't like Freeman even if he wasn't a 'rasser, immediately took interest in the match, believing the old story that an Indian never forgets. But the white man's influence made itself manifest and Chief Little Wolf forgot all about his promise for the greater pleasure of tickling Freeman in his tenderest spots and smacking him where it did the most good.

Freeman Wins First Fall
The promise to kill was made after Freeman had rubbed his taped hand across the Indian's eyes several times. He almost made good his threat when he backed Freeman into a corner and did a fine, if temporary, job of shelling him. But Herb took the first fall in 11:29 min. with a body press.

The Indian clamped on an Indian Death Grip to win the second fall in 8:36 while Little Herbie just suffered and suffered. In fact that several ushers rushed to the entrance expecting to find a lost soul. Freeman suffered for 2:13 more before he lost the third fall to Little Wolf who, through the knowledge of Indian folklore, was able to trap the Hebrew with a leg lock and split.

Staged in the elephant pits of any zoo and the match between Tor Johnson and "Brother" Johnson would have been real news. It looked "pokey" with two ex-cops. The first was when Johnson missed a terrific flying tackle and landed on his rumble seat with a most amazing bump. The second real thrill came (after Johnson had won the first fall in 11:06 with a body press and lost the second) when he picked up the giant Swede in an apparent effort to drop him for a body slam. He slipped and fell under the load with Johnson on top and getting credit for a body slam.

Rutherford's Face Was Red
Then the thrill! The grapplers came out for the third fall and Jonathan rushed Johnson to the ropes and tied his head in a "hangman" hold. Leaping on the Swede's back he had more fun poking him in the ribs, until Referee Dick Rutherford untangled them for the big moment. Johnson fell across Rutherford and Jonathan leaped on top of the pile. When the mess was finally untangled the red-faced Rutherford disqualified both.

With Mike Wark's calling signals, Bob Coleman defeated him in 20:16 minutes with an overhead body slam. When the proper time came, Wark, clinching with Coleman, gave instructions and Coleman audibly replied "o. k."

Juan Martinez won from Jack McArthur on a foul in 14:10 after the Irish lad tossed Martinez into a woman fan's lap, arousing the lady's ire to a boiling point.

MARK KOENIG SIGNS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—The Mission (Pacific Coast league) basketball team has acquired Mark Koenig, veteran guard for league infielder, for the 1937 season. President Joseph Bearwald announced today. The New York Giants made Koenig a free agent at the end of the 1936 schedule.

Peggy's Colors Gold, Old Gold

'Honest' Bill Brown Tells Pastor To Forget Louis

By HENRY McLEMORE

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Putting the sport shot here and there:

Peggy Hopkins Joyce, the gal on whose exultation the sun never sets, is fast becoming the sensation of the British turf. . . . Given a small string of racers (she probably asked for pearls) by Vivian Jackson, amateur rider, when their engagement to wed was announced, la Joyce has scored brilliantly in the past week. . . . yesterday her Roi Tondel won the Ashbourne hurdle race at Epsom, and her Watch Dog the important Doveclade Handicap. . . . Last Thursday Roi Tondel won the Windsor Mill hurdle event, and Watch Dog ran a dead heat with John Hay Whitney's Gold Bird. . . . Her colors are unrelentingly reported to be old gold, ruby and new gold. . . .

Understatement department: The big sign by the gates of the Hollywood Kennel club outside Miami says "Visitors Welcome." . . . Not only welcome to come in, but welcome to stay until your last dollar is gone. . . .

One of the points in the program of Dr. Lotus Hoffman of the University of Minnesota is "Games between natural rivals." . . . We get you, Dec. . . . you mean games like the one Minnesota opened the season with on the Pacific Coast. . . . That one with Washington was about as natural as three thumbs. . . . Of the 187 athletic awards made at Princeton recently, one was a major letter to George Houston for winning the national rope-climbing championship. . . . Sounds like monkey business to me. . . .

"You fought a good fight in kicking Impelliere," Commissioner Bill Brown told Bob Gomez and Ed Barrow, Gomez' 2-year $40,000 contract was up last season.

Cards Want Dean To Sign Contract With Gag Clause

BY GEORGE KIRKSEY

(United Press Staff Correspondent)
NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—A swing-around the baseball circuit for some Hot Stove League notes:

NATIONAL LEAGUE
NEW YORK—Johnny McCarthy positively will play first base for the Giants. They paid $40,000 for him, and are not even dicker for another first-sacker. The Giants will train in Havana—big guarantee.

ST. LOUIS—Branch Rickey wanted "Dizzy" Dean to sign a contract with a "gag clause" in it last year. Maybe Diz will ask Rickey to do the same thing this year. Will the prize battery of the year be Dean and Owen? Mickey Owen is the 19-year-old catcher from Columbus who drew two bids of over $100,000 from major league clubs.

CHICAGO—The Cubs bid $40,000 for outfielder Fred Sington to the Chattanooga (Southern association) club. Sington was Alabama's former All-American tackle now with Washington. The bid was turned down. "Gabby" Hartnett will be made captain of the Cubs.

PITTSBURGH—The Pirates expect Ed Brandt to make them the first consistent southpaw since Earl Cooper many years ago. The big battle will be between Young and Handley for the second base job.

CINCINNATI—Powell Crosley, Jr., owner of the Reds, says Judge Landis gave "us a raw deal" in commenting on the commissioner's ruling which made two of his players, Lee Handley and John Peacock, free agents and left Bob Feller with Cleveland. The Reds have the most versatile player in the majors—Dee Moore, up from the Macon (Sally league) club, who pitches, catches, plays third and the outfield.

BOSTON—The Yanks won the pennant with a DiMaggio. The Bees will try to do the same thing with Joe's brother Vince.

BROOKLYN—In their quest for youth, the Dodgers signed Heinie Manush, American league castoff who'll be 36 in July. Poor Burchleigh Grimes!

AMERICAN LEAGUE
NEW YORK—The majors' biggest salary battle will be between Pastor in the dressing room, "but I advise you to stay away from old Louis. He is away from you." . . . Pastor's reply—"You be there when I fight him and I'll knock him in your lap!" . . . makes one wonder if Bob really did go to college. . . .

Van Mungo, Brooklyn's ace fireballer, says Brother Burchleigh Grimes will have to see to it that he gets $15,000 next year, or he will do the raiment of a holdout. . . . That's Dean wants for his pitching and clowning services. . . . My tip for the Santa Anita Handicap is one Seabiscuit, winner of the World's Fair Handicap in near record time. . . . He is held at 8 to 1. . . . And Accor-lade, at 116 pounds and 20 to 1, is another fine opportunity. . . .

Willie MacFarlane, the "Tuckahoe" school teacher, will bet you all you want, any time, that he can break 80 on any course while using but one hand to swing the clubs—also that he can break 85 playing all the shots one-handed and standing on one foot. . . .

We have no quarrel with Fred Perry's world amateur tennis ranking which puts the flannel boys in this order: Von Gramm, Budge, Quist, Austin and Crawford. . . . But we'd like to bet him that a year from now any list he made would have Budge on top. . . .

Prophecy: The star of the Rose Bowl game will be an 18-year-old sophomore end, Daddio. . . . He was the best wingman of the year in my book, and I had two peeks at Larry (Soundtrack) Kelley.

I'M GOING TO WORK UNTIL I DIE' SAYS VET

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 22.—(UP)—Connie Mack, oldest major league baseball manager, celebrates his 74th birthday tomorrow—but it won't mean a thing to him.

"A man shouldn't be reminded of his seventies," Connie said. "If he doesn't think about it, he can go on working until he dies. That's what I'm going to do."

Mack—born Cornelius McGillicuddy and named Mack by scorekeepers during his playing days—was optimistic as usual about the 1937 team.

"I need some pitchers, more than anything. The base-running will improve with Bill Werber out there," Mack said.

"But," he added, "I don't know whether I'll ever get another good team. It's better to surprise than disappoint. But it will be a little better this year, and I hope to build until I have another good team."

"When I get a pennant team, I'm going to keep it, this time, unless financial difficulties again force me to sell."

That Eddie Holmes, five-time golf champion of the Santa Ana Country club, will be a dangerous competitor for Dick Ewert's crown in the coming tournament is indicated by his qualifying round of 74 this week.

Holmes' card two above par, was equalled by two other titular flight qualifiers, A. W. Robinson and Ted Burkett.

Eleven players already have broken 80. Besides Holmes, Robinson and Burkett, these are Tim Talbert, 76; H. S. Wright, 77; E. H. Guthrie and J. LaSater, 78; J. K. McDonald, Harry Olson, Rex Kennedy and J. W. Means, 79. Champion Ewert qualifies automatically.

The qualifying deadline has been extended through January 1, according to Roy Renwick, course professional.

PAUL BELIEVES DIZ WILL 'STRING ALONG'

DALLAS, Tex., Dec. 22.—(UP)—"Dizzy" Dean, the boisterous one, will be back in the ballcock of the St. Louis Cardinals with his pitching arm wound up when the bugle for training sessions blows, Paul Dean, younger brother in baseball's best pitching team, said today.

Paul believed that loquacious Dizzy would "string along" with the club, and he added, "as far as I'm concerned, I'm going to report to Daytona Beach whenever they tell me to report. I'm lucky to be able to report anywhere."

WASHINGTON—Another team that needs a catcher badly, Clark Griffith rates the Senators' infield as the league's best, providing "Buddy" Myer stages a comeback. What's to become of "Buck" Newsom, who has angered Griffith with his threats?

ST. LOUIS—Rogers Hornsby has $150,000 to spend for ball players and can't make a deal. Everybody wants Lyn Lary but Hornsby blocks all deals for him by asking players only in exchange.

HUSKIES TURN BACK MICHIGAN'S CAGERS

SEATTLE, Dec. 22.—(UP)—University of Washington's speedy basketball team had little difficulty downing the bormstorming university of Michigan quintet, 41-23, in the first of a three-game intersectional series here.

Bobby LaRue, three-year letterman at halfback, joined the squad for practice today, recovered from a leg injury.

CARFARE IS REWARD FOR SIGNING MILLION-DOLLAR BOUT.

NEW YORK, Dec. 22.—Max Schmelling has returned to Berlin but the boys still are getting belly laughs out of the two funniest meetings in the hilarious history of the New York Boxing commission.

They ended with Jim Braddock agreeing not to monkey with the dynamite that is Joe Louis until Schmelling gets another crack at the crown in the Sunken Garden of Queens, June 3. The German had his way, as usual. He must have a way about him.

Silver-topped Sam McQuade topped off the comedy when, with an important last look about the room, he swelled his chest to the bursting point, flourished his mighty pen, signed the supposed million-dollar papers, and promptly put the bite on Jimmy Johnston for a smileon with which to get back uptown.

McQuade's entry was as humorous as his exit. When it suddenly dawned on Johnston, the Madison Square Garden ringmaster, that he had no official status with the commission, he hurriedly telephoned his matchmaker to dash to the scene.

Schmelling had signed. So had Braddock and his manager, Joe Gould. Mike Jacobs had affixed his signature for the Twentieth Century Sporting club, the co-promoter. Only McQuade's name was needed to complete the re-signing of the Braddock-Schmelling battle.

Sergeant Sam was suffering from the shorts when Johnston sounded the alarm. But such trivialities hardly would stop an ex-Royal Northwest Mountie, such as the Old Sarge assertedly is. Arriving at the State Building, McQuade nonchalantly put the lug on an acquaintance for a dollar to pay his cab fare.

McQUADE SIGNS, GETS HIS BUCK.

McQuade was the most important personage in sight when he dashed through the portals where the pugilistic potentates convene. There were four copies of the contract and as many drafts of a supplementary agreement, and someone suggested that McQuade read them.

"Be sure you know what you're signing, Sam," he remarked.

But the Old Sarge obeyed Johnston's command to sign there and there and there, and the thing was concluded in a jiffy, and then, "Jim, give me a buck so I can get back uptown."

Thus are million-dollar world heavyweight championships fights closed.

When on the first day Schmelling launched his objections to Braddock tackling Louis in a no-decision engagement at Atlantic City, Feb. 22, General John J. Phelan, chairman of the New York Board, announced that it had nothing to do with what transpired in New Jersey.

On the second day, after the difficulties had been smoothed out the night before by Mike Jacobs, General Phelan was positive that the New York commission could stop almost anything carded in New Jersey.

"Budd, General," objected Schmelling the first day. "Choe

Girl Scout Honors

Eleven Willard Girl Scouts received awards at the court of the Methodist church, Friday evening, December 11. Sally Tiernan carried off the honors by receiving patrol leader, swimmer, life-saver, housekeeper, scholar and observer badges. Marjory Metzger and Joy Crouse received tenderfoot badges while Dorothy Jean Wilbur and Marguerite Baker received second class badges. Dorothy Elly received first aid, athlete, electrician, and musician honors, while Virginia Steel was awarded honors as archer, cook, first aid and swimmer.

Other girls receiving badges were Janet McFadden, first aid, craftsman, and wild flower finder; Beth Thornike first aid, and observer; Helen Butler, athlete and health winner; Pat Collins, cook; Mildred Lockett, cook, fresh water life finder and salt water life finder.

"Tennis Ladder"

The famous "Willard Tennis Ladder" is now undergoing a hard change by the way of a tennis tournament.

John Blauer and Charles Huffman are high in the ninth grade, while Kenneth Goodman and Joe Mixer are third and fourth. The eighth grade high are Ted Finster and Warren Paul with the seventh grade victors, Edward Scott and Ben Schlegel.

This ladder will be arranged according to the high scores of each player. The ninth grade winners will be at the top with eighth and seventh graders in line.

Speedo Ball

Miss Anderson has announced that after school speedo ball will begin the week after the Christmas vacation.

Seventh, eighth, and ninth girls had such a large number out for after school volley ball that Miss Anderson is hoping to have an equal number out of speedo ball. The ninth grade will practice on Thursday, the seventh and eighth grades, on Tuesday.

Sewing Exhibit

The combined sewing classes of Miss Alberta Green and Mrs. Vivian Meeks staged a clothing exhibit Thursday in the sewing room. The mothers were invited to come anytime between 3 and 5:30 in the afternoon. The affair was conducted in a very informal manner and tea was served continuously.

All of the student returned their previously made articles and home problems which were arranged in a colorful display.

Scout Dinner

A pot luck was given by Boy Scouts, Troop 23, for their parents, December 14, at the Scouts' meeting place on North Sycamore, "The Old Bailey Barn."

Preceding dinner the Scouts popped corn and served it to their parents. After dinner the entertainment was given by showing their skill in archery, first aid kits, and how to make fire with two sticks. The leader and his assistant then gave a talk on the boys and what they were doing. Winslow Porteous played the harmonica while his dog Tootie performed to the music. The meeting closed with the Boy Scouts' benediction.

Sacred Assembly

A sacred assembly, under the direction of Miss Ball, Miss Mueller, and Mr. Bracewell was presented on Friday for all classes. This year, as in previous years, the play "The Nativity" was presented. The three scenes were "The Annunciation," "The Shepherds in the Field," and "The Nativity."

The cast of characters included Mary and Joseph, the Three Wise Men, the Angel, the Shepherds and the reader. The junior glee clubs under the direction of Miss Glancy, Miss Davis and Mr. Michel helped in the production by singing several Christmas Carols.

School Visits

Mrs. Smith, Miss M. J. Steel, Mr. Schmid, and Mr. Lund, of the Willard faculty, visited Belvedere Junior High and Hollenbeck Junior High schools in Los Angeles early in the month.

Miss Steel and Mrs. Smith were especially interested in social and discipline problems. Miss Steel stated that one of the schools visited had a student government very similar to Willard's. This school had several ideas which might be adaptable to Willard.

Mr. Lund said that one day a week is devoted to physical education at this same school. All athletic contests are organized with in four different clubs of the school, and by this they earn their letters.

Girl Reserves

Seventh grade Girl Reserves held their Christmas meeting Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Budd, 1511 Durant street.

The program was opened with Christmas Carols. Other features consisted of a reading by Betty Stocker, a group of duets by Vivian Haskell and Jessie Mae Miles, a violin solo by Rovena Arnade, and a piano solo by Anna Mae Burks.

Preceding the program the girls gathered around the fireplace for refreshments. The meeting closed with the exchange of gifts.

Law Club

The Parliamentary Law club held its second meeting in room 112, Tuesday. The meeting was called to order by Hugh Brooks, vice-president. Members reported on the conduct of their pledges. Several were found to have disobeyed and as punishment they received swats.

Irma May Youel, program chairman, devoted the rest of the meeting to the learning of the fundamentals of parliamentary procedure. This was done for the benefit of the new members who had never taken parliamentary law.

Electric Shop

One of the outstanding students of Mr. Hick's eighth grade electric shop class is Elvin Hoots who has completed three round scoops of different sizes and now is engaged in making a canteen.

Many of the ninth graders are working on Christmas presents for their families. Amelia Mercurio has just completed his door chimes.

Three-tube all-wave radio sets are being made by Howard Walton and ack Harper. Crystal sets are being made by Gilbert Morales, Charles Frankie and Charles Canaan.

Mr. Hicks is designing an electric post card projector for a new class project.

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 22—Idol chatter: The Preston Posters live apart while he is at work in a picture, because (he says) "he is unbearable to live with." Loretta Young was born on Hollywood avenue of Salt Lake City, Utah. Peas from the same pod: Yvonne, of the Dionne fivesome, and Arline Judge. Who else wishes Charles Laughton would return to Hollywood movies? There is talk that hot-eyed Dorothy Lamour may bring "it-appeal" back to pictures. Danish Warner Oland (the screen's Charlie Chan) favors Chinese food (screen influence at home).

Clark Gable actually shrinks from shaving, and doesn't unless he must. I must not forget to thank Walter Ramsey of Photoplay for suggesting that these paragraphs be titled "Idol chatter." Is there a chuckle in the fact that a frozen-faced comedian should have the red-hot name, Ned Sparks? No other star has ever equalled the inspired look Joseph Dowling gave the screen in the original "Miracle Man." Amusing to think that parents of oh-so-ritzy-looking Margaret Lindsay once called her "Maggie." Betty Compton is thumbing her way up Comeback Road.

Brain Twizzlers

By Prof. J. D. Flint

Al and Hal were twins. They were inseparable and a very fine pair of young men. Their attributes were many and their single weakness was gambling. The size of the stakes made no difference. They would gladly match pennies or gamble their automobile on a single play, that is, when they had an automobile. One evening they were at the Casino and the roulette table gained their attention. For every five dollars that Al had, Hal had eight. After an hour or so of play each had won nine dollars and for every eight that Al had, Hal had eleven. How much money did each start with?

Mrs. Margaret Buchtel, of 821 Fillmore street, Denver, Colo., former Ebell club member here and member of the German class in adult education, well-known here, is gradually recovering now from results of a bad automobile accident two months ago in Denver, friends reported today.

Both of Mrs. Buchtel's collar bones were badly broken, according to reports, and she was badly bruised. For seven weeks, she has been in bed most of the time. She still wears a heavy brace about her neck part of the time.

Mrs. Buchtel, friends report, was a very enthusiastic student of German while she was a member of the adult education class here. She extends Christmas greetings to her many friends in Santa Ana.

Day Nursery Children Expect Santa Claus Tomorrow

Plans which members of Ebells Day Nursery board and the Assistance League club have had underway for several weeks for a Christmas party for tiny folk of the Day Nursery, are to reach their climax tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the famous nursery at 610 North Garfield street.

Not only the little children now attending the nursery, but every child who has been there since the arrival of Miss Lucy Paulson as matron, is invited to be present and take part in the merriment. Miss Paulson and her assistants, Mrs. Beale Hase and Mrs. Gail May, will be aided in all details by the hostess group from Ebells society.

They will have as guest of honor, no less a personage than Santa Claus himself, and it is an open secret that he will bring toys and candy galore, to say nothing of ice cream and such things that children love. Probably Girls' Ebells society members will be present too, so children may anticipate one of the happiest of holidays.

The Day Nursery board, functioning under the general Ebells presidency of Mrs. Fred C. Rowland, is composed of Mrs. James Irvine and Mrs. A. G. Flagg, chairmen, Mesdames Herbert Rankin, C. J. Klatt, T. R. Traxick, D. D. Waynick, Hugh Gerrard, John Ball and Miss Clara Richards.

Business House Plans Enjoyable Party For Staff

Prominent among the events of the season in which business "families" have been brought into closer companionship and friendliness, was the gala affair of Saturday night when employees of the Smart and Final company held their annual costume party and dance in Santa Ana Country club.

This affair had unique features in the fact that men of the company adopted feminine attire for the evening, while feminine members of the group blossomed out in masculine attire. Prizes given for the cleverest costumes, went to Mrs. Marie Peters, a most convincing "darkie beau," and to Walter Wurster, equally convincing in his role as a prima donna.

The unusual outfits made the evening of dancing doubly enjoyable both to the dancers themselves, and to those that dropped out from time to time to sit on the sidelines, and watch the gay carnival. Various amusing stunts were introduced, and refreshments were served.

The festive decorations of the clubhouse, including the towering tree with its silver rain and blue lights, all contributed to the Christmas spirit, as did the distribution by Ben Manker, master of ceremonies, of the company's Christmas bonuses to the 125 or more employees present.

Dancing Party Proves Pleasant Success For Y. L. I.

With their first Christmas dance such an outstanding success, members of the Junior Y.L.I. hope to make it an annual formal affair. About 50 couples of the juniors danced Saturday evening in K.C. hall to Glen Evans' music. The hall was prettily decorated with poinsettias and wreaths of holly in the windows and on the stage.

About 11 o'clock refreshments of finger sandwiches and angel food cake were served in the dining room. The tables were festive with holly down the centers and tall red candles on each end.

Mr. and Mrs. U. J. Engelman, Mrs. Philip Telef and Miss Ella May Blevins were patron and patronesses.

Committees for the dance were decorations, the Misses Carolyn Borchard, Wilma Borchard, Margaret Smith; refreshments, Miss Cecelia Telef, Miss Helen Johnson; tickets, Miss Betty Voskuhl; Miss Mary Jane Towler, and orchestra, Miss Cecelia Telef.

Junior Y.L.I. members are reminded of the Christmas party and gift exchange tonight at 7:30 at the home of Mrs. U. J. Engelman, 2459 Heliotrope Drive.

Yuletide Traditions Observed by DI Chapter Members

Placing spruce fagots on the wide hearth in the lovely new home of Mr. and Mrs. Sam W. Nau in Tustin yesterday afternoon, members of chapter DI P. E. O. took part in a traditional Yuletide ceremony which came as a feature of an annual holiday party. As they participated in the pretty ritual, they expressed Christmas wishes for the chapter.

Mrs. L. M. Forcey and Mrs. E. J. Gilbert were co-hostesses with Mrs. Nau, presiding at a buffet luncheon served from a table spread with lace. Tapers in holiday red cast their glow on a centerpiece of carnations and maidenhair fern in a Hungarian vase which is one of the many art objects in Mr. and Mrs. Nau's collection. Mrs. Cood Adams and Mrs. Warren Brakeman poured tea and coffee. There were individual candles rising from poinsettia holders appointing trays for each guest.

Mrs. Brakeman, Mrs. A. J. Cruickshank, Mrs. George Miles, Mrs. W. H. Harrison and Miss Genevieve Hunstun formed a program committee for the afternoon. Tall tapers added their glow to the firelight as shades were drawn for an interval during which Christmas music wafted into the living room from the balcony, where musicians were grouped. Mrs. Nat Neff was at the organ, and Mrs. Elmer Heldt, the violin, playing duets including "Largo" (Handel), Carols, Mrs. Neff, Mrs. Cruickshank, Mrs. O. Scott McFarland and Mrs. Ray Lambert, sang "O Little Town of Bethlehem" and "Holy Night." Mrs. Neff sang "The Christmas Lullaby" (Wilson).

Mrs. E. C. Phillips read Morris translation of "The Three Kings of Cologne" written in the 14th century by John Hildebrand.

The gift of the P. E. O. Sisterhood to the world was symbolized, and tribute was paid to the seven founders when seven red tapers were lighted by the chapter president, Mrs. Cood Adams. The placing of the spruce fagots on the open fire followed.

Exchange of gifts came as a climaxing feature of the afternoon. Mrs. Maurice Enderle and Mrs. Clarence Gustlin distributing the gayly-wrapped packages.

Yule Pleasures Shared By Past Heads Of Calumit Auxiliary

That friendliness which characterizes all meetings of Past Presidents' association of Calumit auxiliaries, was on display at the Christmas party held by Mrs. Bertha N. Dixon, 1138 South Ross street.

The whole home glowed with Christmas cheer expressed in the massed poinsettias, holly wreaths and similar Yule appointments. Some of the guests joined in informal rounds of bridge, and others preferred just friendly chat until time for the distribution of gifts.

With the hostess assuming the role of Santa Claus, beautifully wrapped packages were presented to each guest in turn, and the identity of each one's "Mystery Sister" was at last disclosed.

It was a double celebration for two Past Presidents, Mrs. Elizabeth Moberly and Mrs. May Glaze, for they have December birthday anniversaries. It was Mrs. Moberly's privilege to blow out the candles on the birthday cake, for Mrs. Glaze was unable to be present. However guests received the cheering word that she is recovering from her recent illness.

Mrs. Dixon was visiting her in her Garden Grove home, taking her gifts, party favors and birthday cake.

For the late refreshment hour, guests found places by poinsettia name cards, at a table centered with beautiful poinsettias reflected in the mirror plateau on which they were placed. Tall tapers were augmented by the tiny red candles on the birthday cake produced with the second course. A Christmas salad and cloverleaf rolls were served with coffee and tea, followed by a fruit jello with whipped cream and the birthday cake. Even the holly-decorated cloth and the gay fluted cups with candy and nuts, carried the decorative theme.

In the party with the hostesses were Mesdames Cella Cook, Orange; Eleanor Shaw, Crestline; Elva Hunt, Garden Grove; Estelle Dresser, Elizabeth Erickson, Emma King Wassum, Elizabeth Moberly, Edna Hannah, Katherine Reagan, Bertha Helmer and Nanette Reed. The next meeting on January 27 with Mrs. Wassum, will serve to initiate Mrs. Hazel Hall into the ranks of the Past Presidents.

Supper Hosts Bring Guests Together For Farewell Affair

Planning to leave Christmas day for a visit with relatives in Hendricks, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Goodolen of Laguna Beach, brought together an intimate little group for a farewell hospitality Sunday night in their pleasant home.

Mrs. Goodolen will be remembered as Miss Harriet Stearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Stearns of this city. In entertaining Sunday night, she made use of many of her lovely wedding gifts. Silver and crystal appointed the linen-spread table. Red tapers gleamed on the mantle, which was outlined with a string of bright lights.

Mr. Goodolen and other members of the group contributed to an impromptu musical program. Gifts were exchanged during the evening.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. Ray Gardell, Mr. and Mrs. Stearns, Miss Elizabeth Sturtevant, Miss Gertrude Vaughan, Gary Nygaard and Leon and Goodolen, all of Santa Ana, with the hosts.

Mr. and Mrs. Goodolen expect to spend several weeks in Minnesota.

Gayety Prevails Among Business Women at Holiday Party

To Miss Mabel Whiting and her December committee of Business and Professional Women's club, was accorded the honor of having planned quite the pleasantest party of the year as an observance of the prevailing Christmas season.

It was last night that this event was staged in the Doris Kathryn, where almost half a hundred clubwomen and a few guests enjoyed the turkey dinner with which the festivities opened. The hostess group had banked the tables with flat arrangements of poinsettias, reserving a convincing snow scene on a mirror lake for the table where Miss Lena Thomas, president, and some of the guests were seated.

These guests, introduced at the dinner's close, included the first president of the club, Miss Doris Robbins, now living in Laguna Beach; her mother, Mrs. O. M. Robbins, to whom long ago was accorded the title of "Club Mother" with a life membership in the local group; Miss Chloe Foster, a teacher in Chicago schools who is here for the holidays with her sister, Miss Henrietta Foster, and Miss Rose Lesh, prominent in Wrycende Maedgen club.

December is research month on the national program, and that committee, Miss Whiting, chairman, the Misses Mary Hilyard, Mary Howard and Hubertene Kueneman, had confined their research to Yule customs evidently, with the result that merriment distinguished the party from beginning to end.

There was one interlude of serious beauty however, when Girl Reserve carolers arrived, and grouped outside the windows, sang a succession of Christmas melodies that all seemed distinctly new and different.

Each member of the club had provided a gift, and these were distributed from the pretty blue and silver Christmas tree, by Miss Thomas. After all had been opened and admired, the hostess group introduced the varied games program. Nine different contests comprised this feature, and when scores were tallied at the evening's close, one of the club guests, Miss Chloe Foster, received the prize for the greatest number of points. Several members had succeeded in going through the evening without collecting the amusing symbols in scarlet and green provided by the hostesses, so they cut for the prize, which fell to Mrs. Edith Thatcher.

Miss Martha Sharpley held high score for Michigan, and Mrs. Richard Bradley, low. After prizes were awarded, members gathered around the lovely Christmas tree for the gift exchange. All received presents which revealed the names of the "secret sisters" who had remembered them with gifts during the past year.

The group also had brought dolls with complete wardrobes that will be sent to the Children's Orthopedic hospital in Los Angeles, and a quantity of canned foods for a Christmas basket for a local family.

College President Now On Coast, Inspires Alumni Dinner

Santa Ana and its vicinity had good representation Saturday night at the dinner in Clark hotel, Los Angeles, with which Southern California alumni of Colorado state college of Education honored Dr. George W. Frasier, president of the educational institution.

From this vicinity went Miss Pearl Nicholson and Mrs. Frances Hunt Beeson, Santa Ana; Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stevenson of Costa Mesa, and also Mr. and Mrs. Verlin Spencer, former Santa Anans now living in Pasadena. They were among the hundred or more guests assembled to do honor to their president, who was introduced by Dr. Madeline Veverka, director of elementary education in the Los Angeles schools. Mrs. Lorena Vanderlip Kellner of Los Angeles, presided over the dinner session.

It was especially interesting to the guests, to hear Dr. Frasier's description of recent building operations on the college campus, and his discussion of the new organization of courses there. Other program features included solos by Miss Adeline Hunt of Pasadena who was accompanied by Mrs. Reason of this city. Her songs were "A Split Flower" (Campbell-Tipton) and "Dreamy Lake" (Griffes).

Special guests introduced included Mrs. Marguerite Clark of Los Angeles board of education, and Dr. V. Cheyne Stevenson of University College, U. S. C., both of whom brought greetings from their individual groups.

Especially effective were table appointments in the college colors of lavender and yellow, worked out with yellow daisies, lavender chrysanthemums and matching tapers.

Dr. Frasier, who was in Los Angeles to address the city teachers at two of their annual sessions, and to attend a committee meeting of the Progressive Educational association, remained over especially for the alumni banquet.

Tavern Tatlers Enjoy "Christmas Carol"

Tavern Tatlers, a literary group at Junior college, last night motored to Pasadena to witness the Pasadena Community Playhouse's interpretation of Dickens' "Christmas Carols."

The trip was in accordance with a Tavern Tatler custom which is to make some trip of a literary nature each semester of the school year.

Those who attended the play this semester, were Chester Wafford, Marjorie Button, Alberta Metzgar, Kitty Slawson, Floyd Eilers, Albert Stewart, Gordon Bishop, Katherine Cooper, Helen Griggs, Joy Townsley, Robert Forcey, Barbara Berger, Ruth Budd, Freda Wagner, Ruth Dunlap, Delpha Waller, Franklin Guthrie, Mary Paxton, accompanied by Thomas H. Glenn, adviser of the Tavern Tatlers.

Guests of the group were Mrs. Lavinia Compton Knight, Miss Agness Todd Miller and Miss Roberta Nichols.

Clever Idea Dictates Exchange of Gifts At Dinner Party

All thoughts of business life and associations were cast to the four winds by feminine members of the county tax collector's office when they joined Friday night to stage their own particular idea of a festive holiday party.

They found the most charming of settings for this event in Dangler's, where their own ideas of holiday decorations blended beautifully with the charm of the surroundings. Of chief interest aside from the tempting dinner courses, was the Christmas tree with its enticing fruit. But before any member of the group could have for her own the pretty package bearing her name, she had to follow the party rule. This was made possible by one of the clever punch boards which indicate amusing—and amazing—stunts to be performed. Results added to the general hilarity of the occasion, for each guest attempted to follow instructions in most dutiful fashion.

With the general gift exchange was a surprise feature in which every one present joined to present a special Christmas shower to Mrs. Marian Palmer, one of their number who is withdrawing from the office.

Sharing anticipations and realization of this pleasant affair were Miss Baxer, Helen Wiebe, Helen Hitt, Blanche McDowell, Martha Whitson, Marian Woodington, Marian Palmer, Helen Stewart, Laura Joiner, Jess Barrett, Estelle Bastian, Edna Harkendorff, Fern Boomer, Alice Schmitzerling, Gertrude Cravath, Mamie Lane, Oma Hall, Lula Ott, Florence Rios, Hazel Leonard, Alma Crowell and Hilda Marr.

Youth and Gayety Are Uppermost In Girls' Ebells Party

Amidst a lovely candlelight setting in the parlor of the Ebells clubhouse, 35 members of Girls' Ebells society were entertained last night at a Christmas dessert party. Hostesses were the four advisors of Girls' Ebells, Mrs. E. D. White, Mrs. M. B. Wellington, Mrs. V. Davis and Mrs. C. H. Hoiles.

An evening of Christmas gaiety opened when Mrs. John A. Tessmann, former advisor of the group, served the delicious hot wassail which she makes annually for the Christmas party of Girls' Ebells. After all had drunk together in observance of an old English custom, Christmas refreshments of ice cream and cookies were served.

Highlights of the evening came when the gifts grouped under a silver tree in the center of the room were exchanged.

A short business meeting followed the gift exchange, the purpose being to appoint girls to assist with the Christmas party given annually by Ebells to children of its Day Nursery. Singing of Christmas songs completed the evening's entertainment.

Girls who attended the affair were the Misses Barbara Davis, Virginia Curry, Lucille Lambert, Marjorie Mize, Jane Hoiles, Ruth Agness Todd Miller and Miss Roberta Nichols.

Miss Rose Allen Adds To Yule Beauty For Her Co-workers

It has come to be an anticipated feature of the holidays for women of The Register staff to stage their annual Yule party in the home of Miss Rose Allen, 1404 French street. But delightful as Miss Allen's hospitality has been in the past, it reached a new peak last night when she extended her Christmas courtesy.

It was an evening of constantly mounting enjoyment, with variety as its theme. Games and contests were a refreshing change from the customary bridge played by this group, and called forth the skill and talents of each individual guest in turn. Prizes awarded at the close of the evening, were lovely little Christmas gifts in themselves, and delighted Mrs. Paul Gilbert, Miss Betty Howell, Mrs. William Fritcher and Miss Faria Nell Clayton.

Miss Allen's originality was apparent in the unusual twist given the Christmas decorations, but for her she retained the time-hallowed idea of the spruce each branch tipped with its bright colored ball and gay light. Prettily wrapped packages were heaped beneath for distribution at a late hour in the annual gift exchange.

It was when guests were grouped around the dining table with its snow-banked cottage and its small reindeer-drawn sleigh, that the event came that set this party apart from all its predecessors. For in the midst of the gaiety sounded the strains of Christmas carols. Grouped outside the windows were members of St. Joseph's choir, each holding a tall white taper. The scene and the music alike were unbelievably beautiful, and it was with reverent appreciation that almost reached tears that the guests listened to one carol after another.

The carolers were invited in to enjoy with other guests, the inviting Christmas refreshments, and small tables were grouped in proximity to the dining table for their convenience. All joined in chanting "Happy birthday to you" when The Register group presented several pieces of pottery to their hostess in the design of her choice.

In The Register group with Miss Allen, were the Misses Helen Lutz, Betty Howe, Faria Nell Clayton, Mesdames Virginia Weeks, Paul Gilbert, John V. Minihan, George Risch, Carl Thrasher, Carleton Smith, William Fritcher, Marah Adams and Emmett Elliott. LATE NEWS OF ORANGE AND VICINITY

JEAN BALDWIN IS FEATURED AT CLUB MEET

ORANGE, Dec. 22.—First Economic section members were in charge of the program at the Orange Woman's club yesterday when Miss Jean Baldwin of Los Angeles and Mark Hare of Santa Ana provided a musical program, one of the most enjoyable features of the club year.

The young people were presented in a duet, the Violet Song from "The Prince of Pilsen," as their opening number. Miss Baldwin sang a number of solos from light operas and closing the program with Schubert's "Ave Maria." Mr. Hare's numbers included "Little Irish Girl" and "I'll Sing You a Song of Araby." Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake was program chairman and Mrs. Bertha Neale, vice president of the section presented the singers to their audience.

A "coffee" was announced by Mrs. Donald Smiley, chairman of the finance committee, with the affair to be staged at the home of Mrs. Lucien Flippin, North Glassell street, January 19 at 11 a. m. with cards to follow. The section presented the club with a lovely lace cloth for the tea table.

Dr. Julia Budlong of Santa Ana spoke from the topic "Peace," outlining economic and political conditions in the world today which are tending toward peace in the midst of preparations for war. Of especial interest was her description of conditions in the Holy Land uppermost in the thoughts of many at this time of year. She said that the Jewish peoples had had possession of the Holy Land but for 1000 years, a comparatively short time in the history of the world. She told of the conditions in that country since 100,000 members of the Jewish nation have established homes there and where she said the Arabians felt they were being forced out of places to work and from land ownership.

Mrs. Gwendolyn Thompson and Mrs. V. D. Johnson presided at the tea table which was centered with an oval mirror holding a bouquet of silver and pale green tinsel balls and flanked by white candles in silver holders. The stage was decorated with scarlet and blue blooms and pepper boughs in tall vases.

Frank Pearce, leader of the farm bureau chorus, led club members in group singing preceding the program. Hostess for the afternoon were Mrs. C. C. Bonebrake, Mrs. H. A. Coburn, Mrs. Guy Richards and Mrs. Bertha Neale. Miss Fannie Haebler, president of the section is visiting in Arizona over Christmas. A letter was read from the old people at the county hospital who recently were guests entertained at the clubhouse in which thanks were expressed for the entertainment.

STANTON

STANTON, Dec. 22.—Mrs. Mary Bonner of Newport Beach, who has been a guest of Stanton relatives for the past week, returned yesterday to her home.

Miss Caroline Wilson of Los Angeles spent the weekend here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Wilson.

Mrs. C. Kernan of Long Beach was a recent guest of Mrs. Sarah Rutledge.

Mrs. Viola Roberts is ill at her home. Her daughter, Mrs. Robert Craig, of Nevada, is with her.

Mr. and Mrs. John Myers, accompanied by Cypress friends, spent the weekend with Santa Monica relatives.

TALL TALES OF THE SEA TOLD AT MEN'S CLUB MEET

ORANGE, Dec. 22.—Tales of the seven seas held sway last night at the Christmas meeting of the Orange Men's club in the Episcopal Parish hall and at times the salt spray could almost be felt as Commodore Herbert Hartley, veteran skipper of mighty ships, revealed a sailor's life following the 6:30 o'clock dinner meeting presided over by Judge J. B. Tucker of Santa Ana, president of the club.

The bounding main in all its majesty and power provided the background for one of the most dramatic addresses ever offered to the club, carrying its landlubbers listeners through some of the most stirring episodes of modern transatlantic times and left them with the feeling that a ship may become a part of its captain's "body and soul."

From the first thrilling description of an Indian ocean battle between a swordfish and a whale to the utterance of the old jacker saying, "love 'em and leave 'em," with which the former commander of the great S. S. Leviathan closed his talk, more than 100 men were entertained with a recital of climactic experiences seldom encountered in the lifetime of one man.

As commander of the S. S. St. Louis, veteran ship of the Spanish-American and World wars, christened by Mrs. Grover Cleveland and later to have the distinction of being the first United States vessel to transport arms to England, Hartley told of his experiences with German submarines and northern icebergs.

"Traveling in Germany after the war I met and dined with the commander of the submarine which tried to sink the St. Louis. And believe me that was an occasion," the speaker said "I saw a phase of the war that wrote itself into the very souls of men. And I'm for a big navy, a big army, more airplanes but only for one purpose—to keep the United States at peace at any price!"

Hartley announced that such immense ships as the Leviathan, the Normandie and Queen Mary, carry their owners into the red because of the operating expenses, but that the losses should be charged to advertising purposes.

"I am not in favor of having the great Leviathan remain in dry dock as it now is while the Normandie of the French Line and the English Queen Mary sail continually drawing a large American passenger list."

A musical program was brought by John Hart Stout, who offered three violin selections, accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Joy Elder.

NEW TRESPASS ORDINANCE IS PASSED TODAY

A new county trespass ordinance, tightening the reins against strike disorders in the agricultural districts, was adopted by the county supervisors today on the recommendation of a committee of citrus growers and shippers which appeared before the board.

The new ordinance supersedes persons to enter upon or go upon the lands of another, when such lands are under cultivation or are fenced, for any purpose whatsoever, without the written consent of the owner, except persons in the lawful pursuit of official duty. A misdemeanor penalty of $500 fine or six months imprisonment, or both, is imposed for violations.

The old ordinance was virtually scrapped by Judge Allen's ruling given at the hearing of a petition for habeas corpus, in a trespass case.

A citrus committee consisting of Edward Hall, Santa Ana; Fulton Browning, Tustin; Floyd Watson, Orange; Robert Strain, Fullerton; and J. A. Allen, Garden Grove, urged passage of the new ordinance.

Hale remarked that "we believe the burden of proof should be placed on the trespasser, not on the property owner."

The ordinance was passed on a roll call vote of 4 to 1, on motion of Supervisor Leroy Lyon, seconded by Supervisor W. C. Jerome.

Supervisor N. E. West voted against the ordinance, explaining that while he favored such an ordinance in principle, the particular ordinance was "half-baked legislation, which will not accomplish the purpose for which it is intended."

ORANGE COUNTY FARM BUREAU ADOPTS LEGISLATIVE PLANS

Orange county's Farm Bureau today was on record as having adopted one of the most comprehensive legislative programs in its history, and as having revealed its stand on the filling of a vacancy in California's powerful Railroad Commission.

These are two of more than a set of by-laws. Leaders of the bureau declared the by-laws to be the most democratic of any farm organization in existence which governs county-wide activities. They provide every recognized restriction to prevent the organization from entanglements in political activities, from domination by any small group and provide for matters to be considered by members in community farm center meetings, county-wide membership meetings, and by referendum through the mail, both on the initiative of members themselves and through their representatives on the board of directors.

The convention also voted as a unit to oppose the building up of rates of efficient means of transportation in order to protect obsolete methods of transportation agencies which cannot stand competition.

A resolution covering this matter, was interpreted to mean that railroads should be given freer rein to meet the competition of truck and steamship companies, and that trucking rates should not be built up to protect obsolete rate structures. Officials said the experience of increased revenues to railroads under the reduced passenger rates was an illustration of the practicability of "our general policy."

All these and other policies of the local bureau will be thoroughly discussed at a series of conferences here in offices of R. D. Flaherty, secretary of the bureau, between bureau officials and legislative representatives, during the next three weeks.

The convention was held at the Garden Grove convention, where more than 250 men and women members.

As a result of the unanimous endorsement by the convention of more than 40 resolutions that were adopted at the annual convocations of the state and national farm bureau, local agricultural executives were in informal conference today, planning the messages they will take before the state legislature when it convenes some time next month.

To Get Busy
"We will lose no time in gaining the objectives we have outlined," declared Dan R. Gardner, president of the Orange county bureau, who handled the gavel at the Garden Grove convention.

Stressed as one of the most important of the measures was the one aimed to divorce entirely the activities of the railroad commission from those of public utilities throughout the state.

At the same time, the bureau here declared it would stand solidly behind the appointment of J. J. Deuel of Kern county, for appointment to the commission to fill the vacancy from the San Joaquin valley.

Gardner and other officials explained that these and other important farm matters would be carried to the capital by a delegation headed by R. J. McFadden of Placentia, state delegate to the California bureau federation from Orange county.

Leads Discussions
Leading the discussions at yesterday's convention were President Gardner, W. F. Blair, chairman of region No. 1, embracing the five Southern California farm bureau counties, Dr. Von T. Ellsworth, head of the research department and legislative representative of the California bureau, McFadden, and L. A. Bortz, delegate from the Orange county bureau to the American bureau convention. They pointed out important highlights of the resolutions "which affect the future security, prosperity and well-being of Orange county agriculture."

The county convention was featured by the morning sessions of the 13 different departments in the bureau, and by the main session of the convocations during the afternoon. The beef and lima bean barbecue at noon was under the direction of Arch Raitt, secretary of the Fullerton Y.M.C.A.

"We will use every means in our power to see contents of our legislative resolutions enacted into law," Gardner said in explaining the various measures.

Seek Repeal
"The two having a bearing on the railroad commission seek to repeal those sections of the state law which provide for the financing of the commission. These sections specify that part of the operations of the commission shall be financed by means of a gross tax on the utilities which the commission seeks to regulate."

"The farm bureau and federation believe this form of financing of a regulatory body tends to make it a partner with the utility or service and to that extent detracts the essential feature of unbiased regulation of its general activities and work."

In commending the board of directors for its action in supporting Deuel for the commission, we learned that Deuel for the last 16 years has been the head of the law and utilities department of the state federation. He is recognized as one of the foremost authorities in the state on the broad scope of work of the commission. He is this particularly from the standpoint of the consumer when speaking of the utility services. Letters have been sent to the governor, highly recommending Deuel for this post."

Other Resolutions
Other resolutions covered the reciprocal trade treaties, which are of particular concern to Orange county since they affect the avocado, sugar beet and citrus industries. The bureau stood opposed to the present secret methods of arriving at these treaties without giving the respective industries an opportunity to be heard, and thus give effective control on the protection of the American agricultural industry.

The convention authorized directors of the bureau to govern the bureau's incorporation under a new

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 22.—(UP)—An overheated kitchen stove today brought death to five terror-stricken children in a small frame dwelling in Ottawa's lower town.

Sparks from the stove set fire to their home and spread quickly through the two-story building, trapping them in their beds. Their parents and two other children escaped. Mrs. Bertha Giroux, 38, was taken to hospital in a serious condition. She is expecting another child.

The dead: Romeo Giroux, 17; Cecile, 11; Therese, 10; Marguerite, 8, and Jeanne, 5.

COURT NOTES
W. C. Murphy, San Bernardino machine dealer, charged with grand theft of $1000 from George S. Ward, of Long Beach; also charged with passing a no-fund check of $450 to Ward, was being cross-examined today on the witness stand, as the final stage of the defense's case.

Superior Judge D. K. Seovel today was hearing the title suit involving property at Newport Heights upon which Mrs. Mary Long, of Newport Beach, levied a $5000 damage judgment against Grace Taylor, former Costa Mesa woman. The judgment awarded in 1934, was based upon alienation of the affections of Mrs. Long's husband. Mrs. Long then sued to quiet title to the property, the suit being contested by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brainard, George E. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. C. Diehl and the Santa Ana law firm of Burke and Colwell, all of whom claim an interest to a portion of the property.

TOWNSEND CLUBS
Club No. 8 will meet at the Lincoln school at 7:30 o'clock this evening. A social program has been arranged.

DETRORE, STARR JOIN PADRES AS CATCHERS
SAN DIEGO, Dec. 22.—(UP)—George Detore, former Milwaukee catcher, and Bill Starr, last season with Albany, will handle receiving duties for the San Diego Padres in 1937, Owner Bill Lane announced today.

Lane acquired the two backstops on a recent shopping tour in the east but was unable to reveal their names until the deals were completed.

Detore, who went to Milwaukee from Cleveland, hung up a .34 average in 89 games in the American association and is expected to be the Padre's first string receiver. Lane said Starr, who is not so potent at the plate, will probably be used to relieve Detore. Starr went to Albany from Washington.

The Padres open spring training at their home grounds in San Diego, March 1, Lane said.

On his recent trip east, Lane also acquired Jim Chaplin, pitcher, and Rupert Thompson, outfielder, from Tulsa of the Texas league.

PREDICT 40-MILLION 'HANDLE' AT ARCADIA
ARCADIA, Dec. 22.—All records for mutual handle at Santa Anita are expected to be shattered when the track begins its third season Christmas Day. Last year the handle at the windows was $25,000,000. This season it is expected to exceed $40,000,000.

FIVE LOSE LIVES WHEN HOME BURNS
OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 22.—(UP)—An overheated kitchen stove today brought death to five terror-stricken children in a small frame dwelling in Ottawa's lower town.

Sparks from the stove set fire to their home and spread quickly through the two-story building, trapping them in their beds. Their parents and two other children escaped. Mrs. Bertha Giroux, 38, was taken to hospital in a serious condition. She is expecting another child.

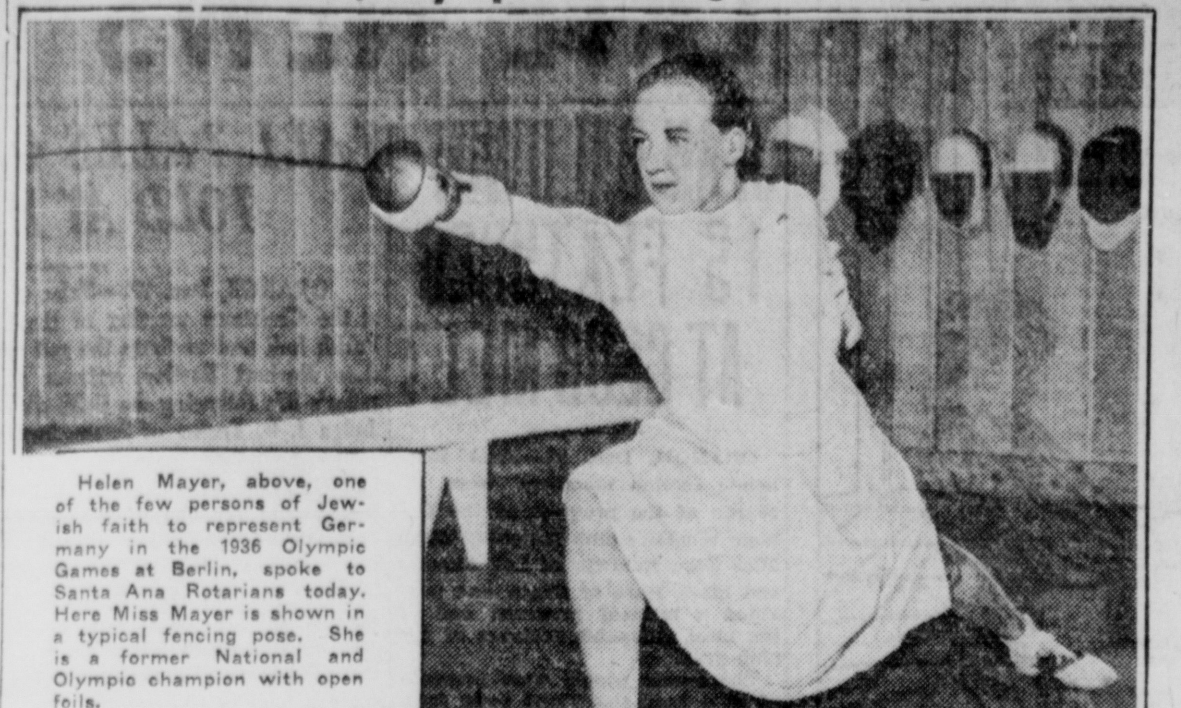

The dead: Romeo Giroux, 17; Cecile, 11; Therese, 10; Marguerite, 8, and Jeanne, 5.

COURT NOTES
W. C. Murphy, San Bernardino machine dealer, charged with grand theft of $1000 from George S. Ward, of Long Beach; also charged with passing a no-fund check of $450 to Ward, was being cross-examined today on the witness stand, as the final stage of the defense's case.

Superior Judge D. K. Seovel today was hearing the title suit involving property at Newport Heights upon which Mrs. Mary Long, of Newport Beach, levied a $5000 damage judgment against Grace Taylor, former Costa Mesa woman. The judgment awarded in 1934, was based upon alienation of the affections of Mrs. Long's husband. Mrs. Long then sued to quiet title to the property, the suit being contested by Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Brainard, George E. Harvey, Mr. and Mrs. C. Diehl and the Santa Ana law firm of Burke and Colwell, all of whom claim an interest to a portion of the property.

German Jewess, Olympic Fencing Star, Speaks Here

Helen Mayer, above, one of the few persons of Jewish faith to represent Germany in the 1936 Olympic Games at Berlin, spoke to Santa Ana Rotarians today. Here Miss Mayer is shown in a typical fencing pose. She is a former National and Olympic champion with open foils.

FENCER TALKS TO ROTARIANS

How the clashing of steel foils in the Olympic Games in many countries won for her a complete understanding of mankind and gave her a real cosmopolitan outlook on life, was told interesting and graphically here today by Helen Mayer, former national and Olympic fencing champion, in her speech and demonstration at the weekly luncheon session of the Santa Ana Rotary club.

With nearly 250 men and women present, and many guests from out of town, it was Rotary's big day in Santa Ana. There was wit and humor in the early stages of the program, and Miss Mayer carried it through her address.

Guy J. Gilbert, president of the organization, sounded the opening gavel, and then turned the program over to C. H. Hollis, head of the committee, who introduced the main speaker, and her companion, Mrs. Mary Guard Jameson, of Corona, former fencing champion at Stanford. She fenced with Mrs. Jameson.

"The Olympic games to you folks," said Miss Mayer with her pronounced German accent, "is more or less a matter of the great athletes of the world meeting in competition. It is something more than that, and its highest purpose, of course, is to promote a feeling of great friendship and good will among the different nations of the world."

"It is really a shame that there usually is some scandal or other in connection with the games. The experience and actions of Eleanor Holm Jarrett in the last games, may ultimately result in women being barred from the competitions. That would be a regretful thing for it is really a beautiful thing that both men and women can enter into the games."

CYPRESS
CYPRESS, Dec. 22.—Mr. and Mrs. M. Theason of Searchlight, Ariz., formerly of this locality, are spending a few days in Cypress.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Brown of Laguna Beach spent the weekend here with Mrs. Brown's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Watters spent the weekend with Santa Monica relatives.

Mrs. Gladys Golbaugh, whose family home was recently destroyed by fire, was the honor guest at a shower for her at the G. L. McWilliams home. Guests were friends of the Cypress and Central districts. Mrs. Edith Porter and Mrs. Grace Berger served a refreshment course of jello, cake and chocolate.

SALVATION ARMY LEADER IN PLEA FOR CHRISTMAS FUND

Sounding his strongest appeal to the public of Santa Ana and vicinity, Capt. Lewis McAllan of the local Salvation Army today was downtown for the first time since the campaign opened recently to raise $500 with which to buy Christmas baskets of food for at least 400 needy boys and girls and their families.

The reason for his gloom obviously lay in the fact that only two more days remained in which to reach the goal, and this morning the drive had barely passed the half-way mark, totaling $257.25.

"Be sure to tell the seriousness of the matter," Capt. McAllan said as he stood in his office listening to tragic tales of poverty and unhappiness in hundreds of Santa Ana homes. The vivid pictures were painted by his workers, who have completed a survey of all needy homes.

"We must bring happiness to the hearts of these neglected children the same as we did last year," Capt. McAllan said. "We want to carry out the same program because they have the faith that they will not be forgotten."

"Surely there is full realization of what this program means. It means that there will be joyous cries from hungry mouths, and complete contentment at the end of this day of days. We must know where we stand by Thursday noon so that details of the distribution can be definitely worked out."

"We are asking once again for all prospective donors to hurry with their contributions, regardless of the amount. They may either bring them to our office, mail them, or send them to the business offices of The Register."

Charged with contributing to the delinquency of his 16-year-old son, Santa Ana Mexican sweetheart, Daniel Ruiz, 27, Santa Ana, today was held to answer to superior court which will sit as a juvenile court, in the case when he faced Judge Kenneth Morrison in Santa Ana justice court today. Ruiz assertedly kept the girl away from her home for several days.

Roy Dunning, Orana service station, junk dealer, was being sought by sheriff's officers today, as a missing person. His abandoned automobile was reported found at Selma, Dunning is 42 years old, five feet 11 1/2 inches tall, weight 150 pounds, having blue eyes, dark brown hair and ruddy complexion. Dunning disappeared December 14.

Haled into Santa Ana justice court yesterday afternoon on charges of contempt, Maurice Patton, 23-year-old meat cutter of 125 East Central, Balboa, was released on his own recognizance and ordered to appear December 28 at 9 a. m. for pronouncement of judgment. Judge Kenneth Morrison signed the warrant which led to Patton's arrest. Patton assertedly failed to appear in court last Friday in answer to a summons in connection with a civil suit.

"May I ask what you are looking for in here?"

"Why—why nothing?" Bob gasped. "I just thought it might look better if that was out of sight." He pointed to the blood stain.

"I see." From the other man's tone, Bob gathered the impression that Pearl Pierre thought he saw a good deal more than he was mentioning. "You seem to find a number of things to interest you in this room," he went on.

His cold voice and level stare made the hot blood rush to Bob's forehead. For a minute he had a wild impulse to grasp that dark throat in both his hands. Then he shrank back, aghast at the thought. Was he losing his mind, too? Just when he needed to see things clearly, if he was to get Betty and himself safely out of this mess. With an effort Bob managed to control his feelings and, not trusting himself to answer Pearl Pierre, he turned and walked out of the room.

But after the household had retired for the night Bob was to remember again that incident in the death room, and wonder just how Pearl Pierre would turn it to suit his own ends. Bob was convinced now that Pearl Pierre was the murderer. He was just dropping off into an exhausted sleep when a woman's shrill cries came to his ears from a room on the other side of the courtyard on which his windows opened.

Betty! Could anything be happening to her? Throwing on his coat, Bob rushed, barefooted, out into the snow, and ran across the yard. Then he stopped and listened. Old Tante Josephine's cracked voice rose in hysterical wails. She was accusing Pearl Pierre, and then Pearl John, of the murder.

(To Be Continued)

PROFESSOR SHAW, alone, seemed unexcited over Pearl Sam's death. He appeared to view the catastrophe as he might have looked on an interesting, unusual scientific development.

Still Bob waited, wondering what he should do next, and why Pearl Pierre did not come back to tell them what he expected them to do. Suddenly it occurred to him that he might busy himself putting things in some sort of order in the big rooms. Accordingly, he began moving chairs and couches back into place, and clearing away the litter of ashtrays and cigaret stubs left by the party.

How cold and forbidding the big rooms looked now, with the fires dying down in the fireplaces and the strange gaunt figures of the little Santos staring down from their niches! "Something like giving a dance in a chapel,"

"He may have forgotten," agreed Ramon. "These sudden cases are hard to handle, you know."

Accordingly they moved over to Pearl Pierre's side. He was standing, glowering down at the floor, as though he held the solution to the mystery. He looked up with a nervous jerk as Ramon spoke and heard them through without a word. Then a sneer came over his face, and he said sarcastically, "So you think we should not lay him out decently, do you? Well, let me remind you, Mr. Vasquez, we are not used to having outsiders dictate to us here on Thursday Mesa. We do things our own way. In the morning I shall send for the proper authorities. But, until then, my brother will lie in the chapel which is the place for

UNION AND AUTO OFFICIALS MEET

DETROIT, Dec. 22.—(UP)—General Motors officials and United Automobile Workers of America representatives conferred secretly this afternoon over the union's demands for recognition in the company's dealings with its 211,000 employees, the United Press learned.

The conference was denied by spokesmen for the union and the corporation, but from a source close to both it was learned the meeting was held in the General Motors building.

It came 24 hours after the U. A. W. A. in a letter and telegram to William S. Knudsen, executive vice president of the corporation, had demanded a meeting to discuss collective bargaining, abolition of the "speed up," seniority and alleged discrimination.

At the conference, the first that General Motors has held with representatives of the International CIO union, were Knudsen; Homer Martin, president of U. A. W. A.; George Adles, secretary-treasurer of the union, and other officials.

Martin was believed to have placed his demands before the corporation conferees and to have delivered a strike ultimatum as the price of non-agreement with them.

Parents and Children Enjoy D. A. V. Gala Christmas Party

Quite in the delightful tradition of Christmas observance as staged each year by Jack Fisher chapter and auxiliary D.A.V., was the party of the past week in K. C. hall, where Disabled American Veterans and their families from all over the county, were entertained.

Mrs. Dean Laub, head of the auxiliary, had appointed her committee chairman some time ago, and they had made such careful plans for the evening that everything moved smoothly and children and adults alike had a thoroughly enjoyable time. Mrs. Elmer Maxson was chairman of the toys committee; Mrs. Fanny Reeves of the Christmas tree trimming; Mrs. Fred Bryan of the candy; Mrs. Harry Edwards of the program, and Mrs. Elvina Cooper and Mrs. Leo Payne, refreshments.

Pupils of the Vera Getty school of Dancing presented the program which included a comedy song and dance by Velma Stroud; a tap duo by Jeff Whitten and Betty Henderson; a solo tap by Ralph Gullede; a sister number by Iris and Lorraine Crawford, and solo dances by Nayna McNeill, Caroline Smith, Virginia Reed, Joan Hollister, Marlene McCullum, June Tway, Yvonne Zialet and George Zialet. Mrs. Janet Martin was accompanist for the talented young people.

Santa Claus arrived in state, and was so convincing that few suspected the identity of Bill Pierce behind the bushy white whiskers. He gave toys and candy to each child present, and they also had ice cream and cookies to complete their happiness.

Adult guests were served home-made cake and coffee at tables in the dining room, where the Yule theme was apparent in pretty decorations and the tapers that twinkled gaily. There were approximately 150 of the adult guests present and as many or more happy children.

It Can't Be Christmas Without Colorful Decorations

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON
When making up the budget for Christmas, do provide for household decorations. It is half of the fun.

My family has always laughed at my Christmas methods. Always the first things on my shopping list are paper, ribbon and cards. Then comes the holly, and the tree, and that is the way I shop. Backwards. For one thing, the counters later are so crowded that it makes selection almost impossible.

Aunt Marie's bed jacket can be purchased later with much more ease than the trifles that must be had to make things bright and gay. Of course, holly and trees will dry. But count on them anyway, and put the price at the top of the column. Christmas depends on many things besides bundles.

Memories Linger
Ask any grown-up about his early Christmases. He will remember how the house looked, what unusual things happened and where the tree usually stood. But he won't be able to tell you what he got on that particular Christmas day. Memory retains impressions of sight, and sounds and smells rather than the material presents. This is the way we are made.

So do think up things to make the house gay. Let's hope there is snow here in the north, where we depend so much on the white element to give background to our happiness. That to begin with.

Then inside, move the furniture around a little just to be different. Probably it will have to be done anyway, to make room. But don't think it a chore. It is part of the difference of Christmas.

The tree need not be the biggest in town. It can sit on a table, for that matter, to give it importance. But a tree there ought to be. One year when we had struck it hard, I waited until the last minute, worse luck, and got a little neglected thing for 15 cents. So when I say a tree for the children, I mean it. If your conscience burs you concerning live trees, make it an artificial one, or buy one with roots to plant later.

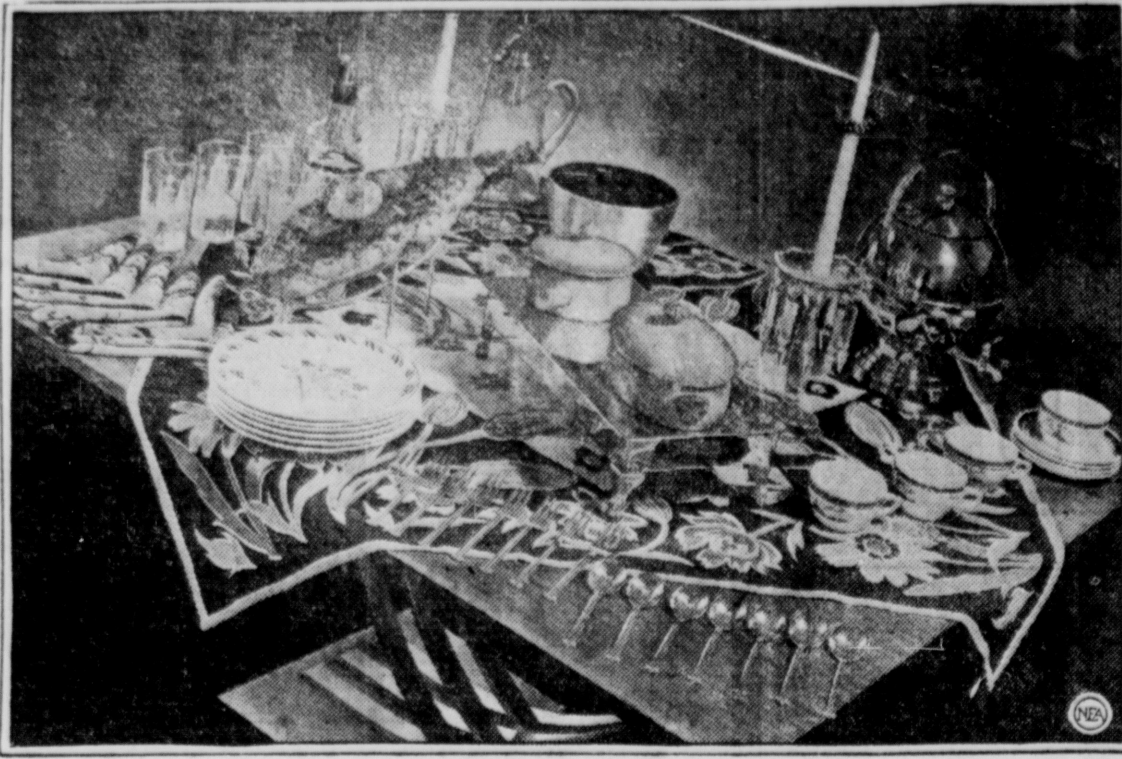

Stockings, Too
Now about stockings. Hang 'em up or put yourself down for a meanie. The second thing on my list was always, "Stocking Fillers." These consisted chiefly of nonsense and noise. I held no truck with a friend who stuffed her children's stockings with tissue and at the toe hid a five-dollar bill. What for? To be put into the big bank for their educations. This is common sense with a vengeance. Well, I never had any at Christmas, except to buy backwards. I'd spend two hours scouring for stocking toys, and five minutes on Mrs. Smith's scarf.

Let the children carry in the holly and help put it up at the windows or in the vases. Or have them help with the festoon of myrtle (or tissue paper, if you like) to make the room a fairy-land. If they are of the age, let them help trim the tree.

Christmas is a better day with a lot of little surprises than one or two things that everybody knows he is going to get. The smell of pine, the candles at the windows Christmas Eve, the carols you sing, the redness of holly. The glittering star at the top of the tree. These are memory. These are enchantment. These things, costly or inexpensive, lighten spirits and carry us through the duller days of the year to follow.

EASTER BONUS, TOO
COHOES, N. Y. (UP)—An Easter bonus as well as a Christmas gift is in store for 12 employees of a Cohoes mill factory. Former Mayor Daniel J. Cosgro announced both bonuses will amount to $40,

Appealing Christmas Scene

For the Christmas buffet, gadgets to keep things hot and others to keep things cold are needed. On the hot side of this hospitable buffet are a new 20-cup percolator with walnut-encased spigot. That electric food warmer is friendly, keeps the potter filled with casseroles hot and appetizing. The cold baked ham rests on a new rack to take the wobble out of informal carving. On the cold side (left) of the buffet, is the ice crock for cubes, crystal decanter and glasses that bear scenes of city life with a background of skyscrapers.

SUGAR 'N SPICE

Santa Claus, stars and decorated Christmas trees—all made of sugar and spice and everything nice, such as mince meat, deserve a place on the holiday schedule. Cup cakes, with snowy icing and red candy decorations are Christmasy indeed.

Merry Gifts May Give Special Meaning To Day Of Days

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

Now, every mother has some thoughts for giving to less fortunate children at Christmas. This is right, and should be part of the great day as surely as planning for the family. If the purse allows only as much as 10 cents, that is enough. If it will stand $10, better still.

Sometimes giving of an altruistic nature is done by way of the hospital, or the organization, instead of privately. Perhaps it does not include children at all, but older people who will have too lean a time of it. The manner of giving does not matter, so long as it includes some person or persons who need attention.

But we have to be very careful. Not one thing that is presented to others should hurt feelings. And "feelings" are different in different people. One child might look questioningly at his rough brown mittens, and then at the gay ones of your son, and be thinking, "These are warm and comfortable, but I wish I had a pretty pair like Sammy's." Sam, my being your own boy, not the little fellow who lives in the rear.

Cruel Contrasts
I have my own ideas about the child who is invited in to admire the gorgeous toys of our own holidays, only to compare them with his own meager playthings at home. Children are not jealous, but there is something rather cruel in contrasts. If he is invited in, have something quite wonderful to give him. It will make you happier than it does him.

The same idea, I think should hold with all such giving. Old Mrs. Smith might be grateful for a few cans of soup. But perhaps she is not as happy about it as we think, unless she is a real oddity and a rare person indeed, whose sense of appreciation outweighs her sense of romance. We must remember this word.

No being, however poor or needy, ever quite loses imagination and a longing for lovely things. Maybe Mrs. Smith needs soup, or coffee or a new market basket; but at Christmas she may feel much more set up with a pie or pudding. Anyway, she dislikes being marked for need. Sensitive without reason, you say? Who isn't? We all are. Pride is an odd thing. Let us not destroy it.

For Merriment
The useful gift is, of course, very often the wisest thing, but is Christmas the time or place for too much wisdom? Do we color our own celebration with wisdom? Or with holly and foolish glass balls?

At any rate, the "fitness" of gifts, should play a part. If our present is going to lower anyone's self-respect, or make him feel contrast too keenly, then it is better not given at all. I have always recommended the gay gift. Remember there are 365 days in the year. Oneday surely, has its claim to jollity.

Mrs. Smith's soup, or Jimmy's brown mittens, would be very much appreciated on New Year's, or any other day. Today they must be done. At least, in the trappings of Christmas, with bright paper and ribbon, and perhaps, a holly sprig in the bow. Anything to preserve a sense of distinction. But not the distinction of "difference" or misfortune. (Copyright, 1936, NEA Service, Inc.)

McCluskey-Chesley Wedding Occurs Sunday

Wedded Sunday afternoon in Christian and Missionary Alliance church, Kenneth M. McCluskey and his bride, the former Miss Grace Chesley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. M. Chesley, 214 North Garnsey street are planning to make their home in Los Angeles.

Three o'clock was the hour for the ceremony, at which the Rev. C. D. Hicks officiated. Mrs. Elene Schrock was at the organ, playing the Wedding Marches as well as accompaniment for Gaylord Hicks, who sang "I Love You Truly" and "O Promise Me."

The bride was attractive in an oyster white satin gown with which she carried white sweet peas and pink roses in shower arrangement. Her aunt, Mrs. H. C. Hall as matron of honor, wore white lace over orchid satin, and carried roses and sweet peas in pink and orchid tones. Other attendants wore taffeta frocks. They were Miss Virginia Waters, in yellow, with matching sweet peas; Miss Louise Johnson, salmon tones, with pink sweet peas; Miss Bertie Fay Gregg, in green and carrying white sweet peas.

Max Heiber was best man. Ushers were Don Heiber, Kenneth McCluskey and C. B. Henry. Little Miss Olmce Huston, flower girl; Miss Barbara Hall, train bearer and Keith Durbin, ring bearer, completed the wedding party.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the home of Mrs. C. B. Henry, 514 Cypress avenue. Mr. and Mrs. McCluskey left for a honeymoon trip, the bride attired in a gray wool suit with squirrel trimming.

The bride, who had all of her schooling in this city, is a graduate of Santa Ana High school. Mr. McCluskey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. McCluskey of Valley Junction, Ia., is a graduate of Valley High school. He attended Fullerton junior college, and is a member of order of De Molay.

Christmas dinner in the Shippe home will be shared by the Ericksons, Mr. and Mrs. Shippe and daughter, Miss Lorine, and Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Wimbush and son, Robert of this city.

A Small Boy's Lament

By Helen Welshimer

MY dog brings guests
His rubber ball,
When he is glad
They've come to call.
My mother always
Lets folks see
She's pleased they came
By serving tea.
I can't give presents
So, instead,
I have to let them
Pat my head!

Cosmetics Are Placed Among Gifts For Men

BY ALICIA HART
NEA Service Staff Writer

Some of the nicest Christmas gifts for men are right on cosmetic counters. Whether he is a rugged individual who likes an old-fashioned tube of shaving cream and a straight razor or a fussy modern who favors a shaving bowl or an electric razor, you can find a beauty gift that will make him happy.

Shaving sets, containing cream or soap, talcum powder and skin tonic or lotion come in all sizes at all prices. A new, de luxe but compact pigskin kit for a man contains hair tonic as well as regular items and has ample space for toothbrush, razor, comb and his pet gadgets.

This year, you can get talcum powder in various shades, so there's no excuse for giving a dark-complexioned man white or pale pink. Also, there are excellent face lotions that will keep his skin from chapping but which do not smell like one of your perfumes. Men, generally speaking, do not like heavily scented colognes and lotions on their own faces.

A neat little jar of brilliantine and a bottle of really good hair tonic are sure to be appreciated. Also a floating bath bowl or a circular bath brush or soap balls for the shower.

Other interesting gifts for men are: an imported clothes brush with satinwood top; whiskbroom with silver-tipped staghorn handle; a hollow chromium and enamel brush, filled with comb, razor, shaving brush and soap.

Maybe he'd like an electric razor or an elegant gold safety razor. Or one with automatic blade magazine.

I'm told that a shaving brush with real badger bristles lasts for years and that the recipient of one of these remains ever so grateful to the donor. Some men like tiny shaving brushes, others prefer the giant varieties. You might inquire about his preference before you buy.

Club Has Luncheon in Jesse Elliott Home

Bouquet tapers and Christmas greenery were combined in an effective centerpiece for a luncheon table Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Jesse Elliott, 617 East Bishop street, where bridge club members were entertained. Red nut cups furthered the holiday theme.

Mrs. Mabel Blee and Mrs. Elwood Bear prize for their first and second high scores. Others present were Mrs. John Daneri, Mrs. Oscar Gullbert and Mrs. Lynn Shrewsbury, San Juan Capistrano; Mrs. Arthur Koepsel, Lemon Heights; Mrs. E. T. Brannon, Riverside, with the hostess, Mrs. Elliott.

Girl Scouts

Troop 1

Pioneers of Troop 1, Girl Scouts, served dinner to members of the troop and their mothers and fathers Saturday evening at Camp Irvine before holding their Court of Awards.

The long tables were decorated with poinsettias and cedar boughs, tall red and white tapers, and green place cards all in keeping with the Christmas theme.

After dinner, three tableaux were presented around the campfire giving the "Evolution of Fire." First came the Cavemen; second, Indians and Puritans, and third, Gypsies, with the gypsy violinist and a Girl Scout leading the group to the social hall where the rest of the program was given, and awards made. The Pioneers gave a short skit, "Pioneer Camp Experiences" before Lou Blodgett awarded the badges.

Awards were made to Marilyn Munelle, Barbara Elliott, Jane McWilliams, Louise Haven, Dorothy Hedley and Pioneers Irene Noble, Ruth Jane Mathews, Josephine Butler, Bethel Haven, Mary Corey, June Blodgett, Margaret Rutan, Ida Bergsetter and Jean Russick. Tenderfoot awards were made to Ruth Baker and Ellen Mock. Badges were given for second class scouts, patrol leaders, athlete, motorist, cook, laundress, needlecraft, woodcraft, pioneer, canners, child nurse, health winner, hostess, junior citizen, dressmaker, minstrel, first aid, swimmers, junior life savers. Nature badges included bird finders, land animals, garden flowers, insect finders, fresh water-life finders, ramblers and Girl Scout aide. About 45 awards were made. Mr. Blodgett also presented the troop with a five-year gold service stripe for the flag.

The group was led in community singing and games with the mothers and fathers also participating. "Taps" were sounded at the close. Mrs. Evelyn Ames and Miss Lorraine Wheeler assisted.

TO ARRIVE THURSDAY

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Boyle, 1235 South Main street, are anticipating the arrival on Thursday of their daughter and son, Miss Zara "Dolly" and Robert "Bud" Boyle of San Francisco, for the holiday weekend.

Boyle young people are employed in the Bay City, Miss Boyle in the office of Federated Metal company, and her brother with Hills Brothers Coffee Inc. On Christmas day they will accompany their parents to San Gabriel to have dinner with Mr. Boyle's parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Boyle.

BIRTHDAY EVENT

Following Sunday evening services at Orange Avenue Christian church this week, 50 members of the congregation adjourned to the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Cottrell, 401 East Pine street, to celebrate Mr. Cottrell's birthday anniversary.

STORIES IN STAMPS

By I. S. Klein

SAVED FROM MOSLEM TERROR

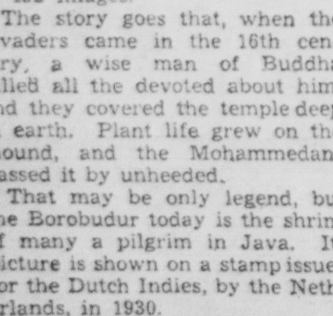

SOME 400 years ago, the Mohammedan drove the Buddhist from the land of Java. In the wake of the invaders lay the ruins of many magnificent temples. But a few they overlooked, and, and they remained to this day, saved by the heavy growth of the jungle that crept over it.

It is the Borobudur near Djokja, really an Indian monument to the Gautama Buddha, some say the greatest of all. It was built between 760 and 850 A. D., and in it is the history of the Buddha in 432 images.

The story goes that, when the invaders came in the 16th century, a wise man of Buddha called all the devoted about him, and they covered the temple deep in earth. Plant life grew on the mound, and the Mohammedans passed it by unheeded.

That may be only legend, but the Borobudur today is the shrine of many a pilgrim in Java. Its picture is shown on a stamp issued for the Dutch Indies, by the Netherlands, in 1930.

The Mixing Bowl

By Ann Meredith

Candied orange or grapefruit peel finds ready takers when served with dessert or placed on the card table when you have friends in for a game. You can follow the traditional way of preparing the peel for preserving: soaking in salted water for six days, water changed every day, or you can do as I do: cook the peel right away in six changes of boiling water, the last one slightly salted, the peel cooked until easily pierced with a fork. Drain thoroughly, pressing the water out of the peel with the back of a saucer. Put the peel in a wide-bottomed pan and for every cup of peel, use slightly more than 1-2 cup sugar scattered over the peel (no water). Heat slowly until the syrup bubbles, then add the juice of a large lemon, cut the flame to a mere whisper and cook until the peel absorbs every bit of the syrup. Cool before rolling in sugar. Color some of the peel, red or green, and vary flavors. Try almond extract with the red peel. Mint extract with the green, and for a change do some with ginger (a teaspoon of powdered ginger cooked with the syrup).

TODAY'S RECIPES
Cocoanut Cream Pudding
4-2 tablespoons cornstarch mixed with 1/2 cup cold milk, 3 cups rich milk, scalded in double boiler with 1/3 cup sugar, 2 egg yolks and

1-4 teaspoon salt,
1 teaspoon vanilla,
1/2 package cocoanut (scant cup).
3 egg whites beaten stiff
3 ripe bananas, sliced
—A tested contributed recipe.
Mix the cornstarch smoothly with cold milk, sugar, egg yolk and salt. Stir into boiling milk, thicken smoothly, then cook 20 minutes. Remove from fire, whip in beaten egg whites, vanilla and cocoanut. Cool slightly before folding in sliced bananas. Chill well before serving. The recipe serves eight.

Winter Supper Menu
Small pork sausages with Whole-wheat waffles
Melter butter, syrup, strawberry preserves, fruit salad, coffee, milk, tea.
For six people allow 2 pounds of "little pig" sausages. Scald the sausages (10 minutes) drain dry and fry slowly in a little butter. Make a mixed fruit salad, using your favorite combination of fruits. Serve on crisp lettuce, a spoonful of creamy mayonnaise garnishing each salad.

I'm sure you don't like the tomb-stone type of waffle, beautiful to look at, but a snare and a delusion when it comes to real goodness. There are three don'ts in making waffles:
Don't use too many eggs, they toughen waffles.
Don't skimp on the shortening.
Don't make the batter too thick.

My Waffle Recipe
2 eggs, whites beaten stiff,
2 tablespoons sugar,
1 scant teaspoon salt,
2 cups sweet milk,
1/2 cup white flour sifted with 2 teaspoons baking powder,

REGISTER COLUMNS OPEN

In Dr. Warmer's article in the Clearing House Saturday, he says he sincerely doubts whether The Register's columns are open and questions the advisability of any lengthy discussion of economic problems in a paper such as The Register now is.

In another place he asks the insinuating question, "don't you think it would be better business to print the news without suppression (so noticeable in your columns lately) or coloration (always a temptation) and be a little more careful in your facts when reporting them editorially?"

No one can prove a negative without proving a positive. If Dr. Warmer would say we killed a man, without specifying who the man was, we could not prove we did not kill the man; we could only prove it was not true if he would specify the man and we could present the man alive. This would be proof because a man could not be both dead and alive. Just so, no newspaper can prove it does not suppress news or that it does not color news. It would seem only fair that Dr. Warmer would be specific in his charges and not so general that they cannot be disputed.

If Dr. Warmer has any plan to help raise the standard of living of the workers, it would seem that he would only be glad to take the opportunity of talking to approximately 50,000 readers. For any man to have ideas which would be helpful and fail to use every possible method to bring these plans into fruition, simply does not make sense. The Register audience is a very intelligent audience. It is made up of people capable of understanding any constructive plan that will be helpful to society. For Dr. Warmer to refuse to enlighten the general public, is practically to refuse to let the public know what he advocates.

If, as Dr. Warmer insinuates, The Register suppresses and colors news, then it is all the more important that he should take advantage of the opportunity of clarifying the damage done by The Register. To refuse to do so, is simply to shirk a responsibility to perform a service.

Although the Forum for Political and Economic Education is conducted in debating form, its purpose is not to win an argument, but simply to throw light on subjects that are of utmost importance and little understood. We cannot understand why any intelligent man would care to take part in a discussion and waste the time of the listeners to set forth things that he does not have enough faith in to care to have them given wide publicity. There is no desire at this forum to win arguments but there is a sincere desire to find the truth as to what will in the long run help the general welfare. The Forum will not be of much value if it is turned into a debating society and the speakers do not sincerely express what they regard as important. Not to do so, is a waste of time.

And, further, it should be understood that the discussions of such matters are in no way personal but only to clarify important, controversial questions. To attempt to make them personal, is simply to cloud the main issue of bringing about a medium for general enlightenment.

The Register believes there never was a time when there was more need for clear and honest thinking on fundamental government and economic questions than there is at present.

We cannot see how any speaker at a public forum can accuse The Register of bitter attacks by asking questions that do not seem plain. The Socratic method is certainly regarded as one of the best methods of getting people to clarify their thinking. It rather seems like a camouflage for a man holding a responsible position to claim that discussion on fundamentals before a large audience of intelligent readers is not advisable. What would Dr. Warmer have the newspaper be? Simply a money making institution that never has courage enough to have discussion on important questions? Would he have it flatter the reader and the contributors and never point out errors? We believe the newspapers should be mediums through which every citizen, who has an important message, can present it without expense to the individual with the vision.

We believe we have proven to the readers who have read the various discussions in The Register Clearing House that the columns of The Register are open to all on any subject of general interest.

YOUTH REFORM

Critics of the younger generation again are due for some mortification. For it is revealed, on best authority, that young people every day and in every way are getting better and better. And it isn't Coueism, either.

The authority in question is the word of New York post office officials. Letters they have on hand reveal that children have been saying their prayers, receiving A's in school, and obeying their parents regularly. And if that isn't a slap at those who gaze askance at modern youth, what is?

The letters, incidentally, were addressed to a Mr. Claus, at the North Pole.

WE CAN HELP IN DRIVE TO MAKE STREETS SAFE

Not very many months ago three men were entrapped in a Nova Scotia gold mine. For days thereafter, while draegermen labored heroically to save them, their plight gripped the attention of a continent, and millions of people eagerly scanned headlines, hoping fervently that the victims would be rescued.

And yet if anything comparable to this amount of interest had been focused on another problem during the last 10 years, it is more than probable that 24,000 men and women, now in their graves, would be enjoying life in the bosoms of their families.

According to the National Safety Council, this many lives would have been saved, and nearly a million injuries prevented, had the national trend in motor vehicle accidents kept pace during the last decade with the reductions achieved in states having standard drivers' license laws.

That the lives of citizens will not continue to be sacrificed needlessly on the altar of public apathy, definite campaigns are now, or soon will be, waged in at least 18 states for passage of standard drivers' license laws, or bringing of existing laws up to standard.

In 1937 legislatures will meet in 43 states, at least 23 of which have no drivers' license laws or, at best, sub-standard measures. It is believed that some type of drivers' license legislation will be introduced in every state not already having a first-class law.

While some of these may fail to go through, the council expects that the net progress will be greater than in any previous year.

Drivers' license laws will be of little benefit if they are bad ones, points out Sidney J. Williams, director of the council's public safety division.

A good law, he explains, has three essentials: examination of new drivers; suspension or revocation for bad driving, and centralization of authority in a state department.

"History shows that laws without these three 'teeth,'" he contends, "are hardly worth the paper on which they're written."

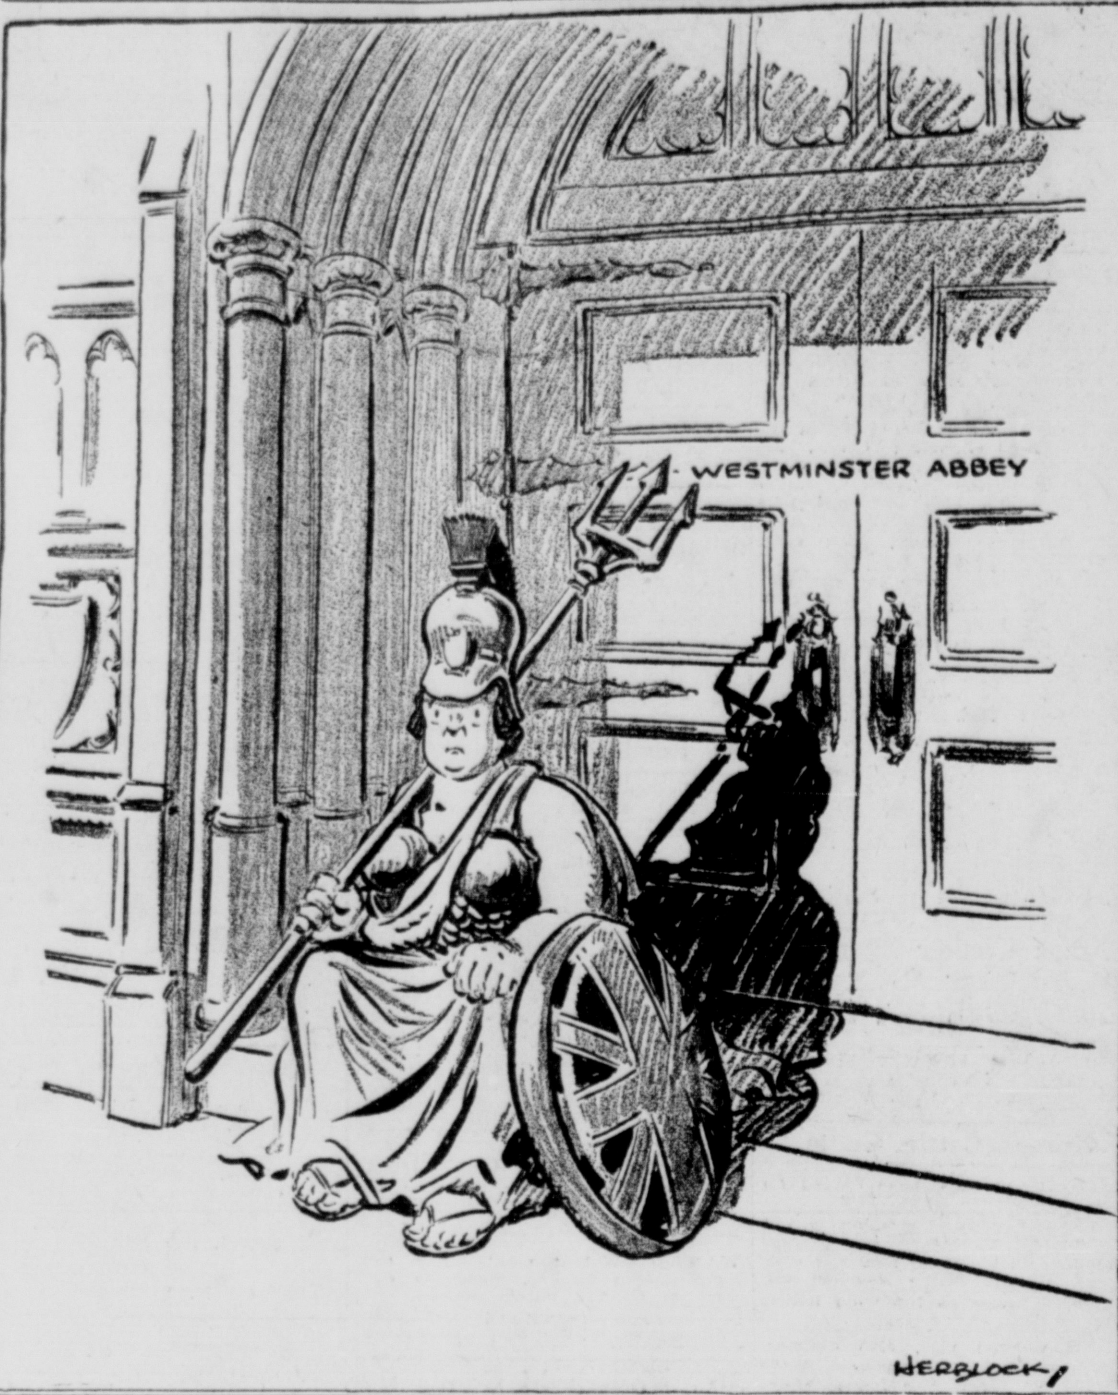

Under an effective law, drivers would be tested as to vision, reflexes, knowledge of traffic laws, and other essentials; their automobiles would be examined periodically as to condition of brakes, tires, steering apparatus, and other such safety factors. And defective drivers and cars would be kept off the streets, to the vast benefit of pedestrians and responsible drivers.

An encouraging factor, as the campaigns begin, is the agitation for passage of such laws. This reveals that public and official interest in safeguarding highway traffic is increasing.

In a survey conducted recently in Oklahoma, for instance, 90 per cent of the motorists questioned voted "Yes" when asked "Are you in favor of a standard drivers' license law?"

If this sample test is an indication of the general trend of public opinion, it may not be long before the problem of the irresponsible driver will be well in hand throughout the country.

News Behind The News

FRANCO'S FAILURE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22.—What happened to General Franco is the subject of some curiosity within officialdom here. He smashed his way through two-thirds of Spain, brushing aside the radicals as if they were civilian rioters. He prepared to wait into Madrid weeks ago, stumbled, and has been prone since.

Military authorities, who speak with some direct inside knowledge, say he was tripped by his own strategy, and now is in a far more dangerous position than the dispatches from abroad suggest. They believe he must win quickly or be destroyed by radical uprisings in his rear.

Diplomatists, who speak with little direct knowledge but with studied suspicions, say General Franco's position was probably dictated by European political strategy rather than military blundering. They would not be surprised if Rome and Berlin have required Franco to delay the capture of Madrid until Russia is thoroughly frozen in for the winter, or some such thing.

It is possible both views are correct. Military blundering may have delayed capture of Madrid at the outset, and diplomacy may be delaying it lately.

STRETCHER

Franco has been using the same military strategy by which Grant took Richmond, but with reverse effect.

Grant, with a vastly superior force against the starved and weakened Lee, extended his lines around Richmond week by week, until he stretched Lee's line so thin that a Boy Scout troop could have broken through it.

Franco's force at Madrid, however, is vastly inferior, in numbers. A good military guess is that he has no more than 25,000 or 30,000. Madrid claims to have 200,000 men, women and children under arms, including the militia. The military absurdity of this defending army was apparent in a dispatch from Madrid the other day, citing an order urging the troops not to go home for lunch thereafter. Nevertheless, they are on the defending inner line. This is naturally shorter than the outer attacking circle. Thus the defenders' probability are able to produce five into amend the new tax laws on this point. Heavy taxes on payrolls will spur replacement of men by machines beyond anything we have yet seen. If these tax features had been deliberately designed to destroy jobs and prevent employment, they could not be more effective to that end. The payroll tax should be shifted to machine hours, or some other basis than payrolls, and new enterprise should be exempt from taxes except for revenue. This is deadly serious.

Oh yes, I forgot to say that, on scientific investigation, we found that the mysterious "death ray" merely cooked the bug by intense and concentrated heat. It would be cheaper and safer and surer just to hit him with a paddle.

efficient gun welders to Franco's one soldier at any point in the line.

Franco seems to have no one except his orderly in reserve. By massing troops at one point, he occasionally breaks through, but, without reserves to follow up, such successes can be of no importance.

WEAKNESS

The basing general seems to have left the best part of his army scattered over Spain in his rear. Well advised guessers here estimate his total strength in Spain at 117,000, including about 8,000 Moors. This means only about one-fourth of his army is attacking Madrid.

The remainder is courting senility and shooting an occasional communist in the 35 or 40 cities which he captured earlier. These protective garrisons range all the way from companies of 150 men in small places to 7,000 or 8,000 men in the cities. He dare not move them up to the front. As soon as he does, the communists will come out from their haystacks and organize for an attack upon his exposed back.

His opponents seem to be as well supplied with ammunition and materials from Russia and Germany, as he is from Italy and Germany, so the blackboard generals here are inclined to sell Franco short. In fact, they would sell him completely if they did not for one thing. They do not believe Italy and Germany will permit him to lose.

OMEN?

This military explanation is accepted by the diplomatists, but they wonder why Franco's air force has not been able to destroy the roads and railroads leading into the city. He has half encircled it, yet trains keep running daily from the radical ports which are open to Russia, France and elsewhere. Destruction of these lines would bring the city to its knees in a short time.

The answer, they suspect, is not the size of the defending air force, but the diplomatic purposes of Rome and Berlin. There may be little in this interpretation, but those who hold it are wondering what dire developments may come if the capture of Madrid takes place with German and Italian help in the spring.

SUGAR

Behind the news from Cuba is more militant fascism. What Colonel Batista is trying to do is to set up a paying dictatorship.

His argument with President Gomez centers around the proposed nine cents a bag tax on sugar exports, but it is not a taxation issue. Colonel Batista wants to use the tax to establish schools for the peons, yet it is not strictly an educational issue, either.

Batista, a former army sergeant, has been putting army officers as teachers into the schools he has already established. As these are the first schools the peons ever had, they are strong for Batista. The sugar tax would enable him to extend his army officer schools to all the peons in Cuba. Anyone can readily see what they will make Batista.

Authorities here are scowling, but what can they do?

We were eating supper and ma said to pop, Well it's settled at last, much to my sigh of relief, and at the eleventh hour I know what to give my own grandchildren for Christmas.

They both wanted toy soldiers and cannons and battleships and suchlike trinkets, didn't they? pop said, and ma said, Yes they did, and that was precisely what I've been bending every breath not to promise them, because how are we ever going to have universal peace if we don't start at the bottom of the ladder by giving the budding generation toys that will turn their little imaginations away from war instead of vice virtue just the opposite. It was fairly easy to win little Nora Rose over from her obsession for war-like implements. I just told her I'd buy her a red cross nurse uniform, explaining how pretty the red cross nurses look as much of the war as the soldiers do, and she was delighted, but Will's case was more difficult, ma said.

I suppose he had 3 arguments for every one of yours, pop said, and ma said, Precisely. He wanted to know this and that and the other thing, such as how anybody can have peace, if they're not armed to the teeth so nobody will dare make war on them, and all kinds of other silly unanswerable questions. I finally won by appealing to his sense of reason. I told him that countries couldn't fight if they didn't have anything to fight with, and I told him the best present I could give him was a book on the lives of grate peacemakers so he would be in a position to discourage the very idea of war. And with that his little face lighted up and he told me he'd be satisfied if I bought him a little anty aircraft cannons so he could discourage any possible attacking enemies by shooting real little cork shells up to the ceiling or something of that nature, so that's how I compromised with him, and the relief was all mine, believe me, ma said.

I'm going to read how Kid Cudgen put Battling Barger into a peaceful sleep after 13 rounds of conscientious endeavor, pop said.

And he got behind the sporting page and stayed there.

Thoughts On Modern Life

BY GLENN FRANK

LET'S BE SCIENTISTS

Yesterday I said that it is hard to be intelligent about the public issues of our time because the masses are hungry for emotional outlets through over-simplified judgments.

We need, and need desperately, the spirit of the scientist. Here are some sentences about the spirit of the scientist which I quote almost verbatim from H. G. Wells.

Telling the truth is the latest achievement of the human mind. Telling the truth is what science tries to do.

The spirit of science is simply candor.

The man of science, if he is real, tells what he knows as plainly as he can and then listens for any jar against fact.

He searches for discords. Wherever jar or discord is found he proceeds to make adjustment.

He makes his progress by exposing the inaccuracies in his own conclusions.

He admits, examines, and overcomes the things that frustrate him.

This, then, is the scientific method—bare, cold, clear, skeptical observation and then the utmost precision of statement. Constant reexamination of the statement. Incessant search and testing.

The politician will say that you could never win an election by such a method, but you might win a realistic leadership.

OUR CHILDREN

BY ANGELO PATRI

THREE GOOD BOOKS

Every child in America should build its own library, own its books. The first three books I would give the child who can read with understanding are the Bible (King James version), Shakespeare, and the Dictionary, unabridged. With these three books he can create a world of wisdom and beauty in which he can dwell serene in spirit and stout of heart.

But he must read them. Too often such books stand on the shelves all new and nice, never touched by human hands. Better they bear the marks of childish hands, better their leaves be rumpled and their backs well battered, if these be the marks of honorable service. Much of the world's wisdom and beauty lie between the covers of these books, much of the history of the race is there, much of its aspirations, loves and fears. Great poetry is in them, rich philosophy, stirring tales of heroic deeds as well as sorrowful stories of human frailties. Life abundant and peaceful oblivion are recorded here to inform and warm and inspire.

But they must be read. One reading will not be enough, nor three, not all that can be given, for these are the records of humanity, and their story is long and wide and deep. Let the young reader dip into them for the stories. Don't be troubled because he skips the "begats" and pores over the Story of Creation, or laughs at the plight of Jonah. The more he enjoys reading the stories the oftener he will turn to them in time, through the years, experiences of his own help him interpret those he reads in the Good Book. He will get inspiration and comfort when most he needs them.

Shakespeare's Plays are a text of life, touching with beauty and lighted with uncanny wisdom. One reading of a play only cracks the surface of the mine of riches that are here. Only years of reading can bring out the flavor that is in them. They never wear out, but increase in glory as the reader increases in understanding. Please give the young person his Shakespeare in well bound books with large, clear print. He must read them, and a good type on good paper permits him to do just that.

And now the Dictionary. A generation of careful speaking people were brought up on the old Webster's Unabridged. There are few country-reared people who do not remember the Thanksgiving Dinner at which they sat, lifted by the height of the big, fat book brought from the parlor bookcase. That book was the court of last resort on many a debatable question. Its word was law from the accent on a syllable to the naming of the baby. It put the stamp of authority and culture on the American tongue. It has an honorable place in our history. It is as good today as in the beginning, even better for modern words are listed among the well worn ones of bygone generations.

These three books then are mandatory for the education of our youth — The Bible, Shakespeare, and a good Dictionary. Any good dictionary will do. But these books must be used and read again and again until it becomes a habit.

Editor Register: Your editorial "A Waste of Time" in the December 18th issue expresses a pertinent thought regarding the needs of the present.

I have been quite a regular attendant at the meetings of the Federal Forum in this County and I believe that the Forum is essentially a means for "educating society," so that great leadership will be permitted.

I wonder how to reconcile this editorial with your attitude regarding these Federal Forums. The only way I can do so in my own mind is to assume that you believe they are a means for propaganda to educate society to follow a leadership which is going in the wrong direction. If so, intellectual honesty requires that you definitely say so, also that you designate the direction in which you believe a proper leader should lead us.

Very truly yours,

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "PEOPLE ARE USING THEIR ELECTRIC STOVES TO PREPARE SUNDAY DINNER."

SAID THE POWER MAN, "SO WE MUSTN'T SHUT THE JUICE OFF."

GENERAL HUGH S. JOHNSON

New York City—An impressive and somewhat mysterious gentleman entered my office by appointment and neatly laid out a row of little metal boxes without saying a word. He connected, by a wire on a wall plug, a red electric light bulb mounted in a reflector.

He opened box No. 1. It was full of wriggling mealie worms—the little pest that ruins corn. He flipped out, one on the glass and spotted the red light on it. It rose to its full height like the caterpillar talking to Alice on the mushroom in Wonderland. Then it stood there shimmering identically for a second and dramatically fell over—stark and stiff.

Box No. 2, contained the dread imex lectulures—bed-bug to you fear reader. One flash of the ruby and they all hopped twice like Mexican jumping beans and then lay still on their loathsome backs with their little legs all pointing toward the sky.

The slaughter of the insectivora did not abate. Fleas dropped off legs—were in grain of wheat—aphis on rose leaves. Ticks, ants and cock-roaches in carried ranks and writhing masses all shriveled under that baleful lurid glow. The "death ray" at last! At least for bugs.

I sent for men of science in the various Washington bureaus and offices this wonder to behold. It amazed and astonished them also. If this were what it seemed a great boon to man lay on the glass top of my desk. The war between insects and the human race which, according to some authorities, bodes ill for the permanence of people on earth, might be ended in 1936.

Most important of all, for the purpose of this piece, perhaps we were witnessing the birth-pangs of a great new industry providing employment to tens of thousands.

But where was the money coming from to start the manufacture of distribution of millions of this contraption? The machines proposed for its application to the fields, ticks on cattle and so forth were complicated and expensive. Furthermore, an exhaustive scientific and legal research was indicated immediately. The impressive and mysterious gentleman had a patent on this thing for which all he wanted was a fortune.

You couldn't even start without a million dollars. From whence? You can't sell stock for such scientific wildcatting. You have to find somebody with a gambler's heart and unlimited assets. When we found him he said: "If you lose my million, I lose it all. If it makes me ten million, taxes take 85 per cent of it. I don't want to make money. It's too expensive."

We thought of starting in a small way and building it up out of profits—just peddle a few hand lamps for housewives to hunt the imex and the ants in the pantries. But a tax expert pointed out that we couldn't do that either. You either distribute your profits or lose most of them.

We were stopped. And this is a parable. Technological improvements have replaced one out of ten jobs since 1925 alone. The only way to absorb this kind of unemployment in our headlong industrial advance is to create new industries and this today is difficult almost to the point of impossibility. It is vitally necessary
